Hospital loan date confirmed

Great news!

Money should be on the way as of Wednesday, November 3, to build a new Georgetown Area Hospital.

Hospital Authority president Jay Sloan informed th SUN just before press time Friday that the state office of the Farmer's Home Administration in Temple, which just during the past week approved a $1.2 million loan for construction of a new Wesleyan nursing home, has now confirmed that $3.1 million will be made available for the new hospital in just over a week.

"As soon as this loan is here, we will immediately re-open negotiations with contractors, finalize with one, then let the contract," said Sloan. "I expect we will be breaking ground out there before the end of the year."

Construction on the new hospital is expected to take 12-18 months to complete. Sloan said that means, "we should be doing business out of our new hospital by mid-1978."

The achievement was made possible by contributions totaling nearly $500,000 from Georgetown citizens, commercial firms, and institutions.

The modern new 60-bed hospital will be located directly across from the Wesleyan nursing home on the Scenic Drive extension in southwest Georgetown.

NEARLY EVERYTHING'S relative. I was grousing recently, thinking how difficult it is to find a youngster to work in the yard for $2.30 an hour. "I worked for 25 cents an hour and was glad to have the opportunity, back there when I was a boy," I grumpily told myself. But then I put the two figures in the framework of time. Hamburgers sold for 10 cents, so 25 cents bought two-and-a-half hamburgers. Hamburgers now sell for 90 cents so $2.30 will buy you two-and-a-half hamburgers! A pair of overalls that now retail at $8 then sold for 98 cents. It took 4 hours of work in 1930, just as it does today, to earn the money needed to buy a pair. It doesn't quite work out that way on everything, true enough.

A Coke to drink with the hamburgers then cost 5 cents, so an hour's work bought 5 Cokes. Now at 25 cents each, an hour's work buys 9 Cokes. Taken all together though, $2.30 today doesn't go much farther than two-bits did then and it's harder to find someone willing to work to earn it. —0—

Carl Doering was telling me this week that the farmers are going to vote for Ford. "I don't know why they should," I rejoined, "with all the damage the Republican boll-weevils are doing to our cotton crops." "Well," Carl shot right back, "The Republican boll-weevils aren't as bad as the Democratic screwworms!" Some arguments you just can't win. —0—

THE NAME OF DONALD Yarbrough will be on the November 2 ballot for the Texas Supreme Court and I urge everyone, to help avoid a state-wide disgrace, scratch it out. Two write-in candidates are running, which is too bad, but most people believe that State District Court Judge Sam Houston of Denton, with a name known to everyone in Texas, has the best chance of defeating the discredited Houston lawyer, now threatened with disbarment. Remember, you have to write in the name of Sam Houston, it won't be on the ballot. —0—

Texans, who like to brag that we are the best in everything, aren't making as much money as residents in most of the nation's 50 states. We are making more than we were last year and the years before that and we're living better. Per capita income in Texas in 1975 was $5,361, ranking us 29th in the U.S. and slightly under the national average of $5,902. On the other hand living costs in Texas are considerably lower than in many of the other states, so we still do right well. At least, we're coming up and that's better than going the other way.

PTA, Chamber on Tues. agenda

In addition to hearing a Taylor Chamber of Commerce delegation request that the county's $100,000 commitment to a single livestock show building be canceled, county commissioners meeting Tuesday morning at 10 will hear Georgetown PTA representatives request use of county equipment for a paving project at Westside School.

Part of the grass esplanade between the school and Scenic Drive should be paved to provide more parking area, PTA members told Georgetown school trustees Monday night, and the trustees agreed. The school will contribute $2,500 for the project.

Dr. Douglas Benold will request office space in the county health building for the new community counseling service which offers individual, family and group psychotherapy each Thursday between 3 and 9 p.m.

Also scheduled for the Tuesday meeting were several tabled items as well as the following considerations:

- salary increase for Precinct 4 employees and hourly wage adjustment for student employees;
- change of Precinct 1 polling place from auditor's office to commissioners' courtroom;
- approval of North Fork agreement with U. S. Corps of Engineers, concerning temporary flooding of roads in the future lakesite area.

NEIGHBORHOOD CENTER UNDERWAY — Georgetown City Building Inspector Tom Sams (left) and City Councilman Harry Gold examine preparations for the foundation of the city's new Neighborhood Center, which will house programs operated by Williamson-Burnet County Opportunities, Inc. at Montgomery and Eighth Streets, in the Urban Renewal district west of the downtown area. Foundation work got under way Friday morning. Funding of the almost $36,000 facility will be made possible with a $228,000 federal Community Development Grant, which Sams and Gold helped secure. Completion of the building is expected in about six weeks. Meanwhile, a second required hearing to decide how Georgetown will use its 1977 CD grant of $228,000 will be held at 7 p.m. Tuesday in the Council Chamber at City Hall. Mayor John Doerfler has urged Georgetown citizens to attend.

Wesleyan groundbreak set Oct. 29

A groundbreaking ceremony for Georgetown's new Wesleyan nursing home will be held at 3:30 p.m. next Friday, October 29, at the future site of the home, east of Interstate Highway 35 and north of FM 2243 on the Scenic Drive extension.

Bishop W. McFerrin Stowe of the Dallas-Fort Worth district of the United Methodist Church will be principal speaker for the event. Also on hand will be the Board of Directors and the Building Committee of the Wesleyan Home.

A reception is planned to follow the ceremony at the Wesleyan Home, 1105 Church Street. In case of bad weather, the entire ceremony will be held at the Wesleyan.

Hill talks Carter politics

Texas Attorney General John Hill will speak about Democratic Presidential nominee Jimmy Carter to breakfasters at the Georgetown Inn Thursday morning, Carter-Mondale Committee Chairman Bill Stubblefield of Georgetown announced Friday.

Stubblefield, co-chairman of Williamson County's committee with Israel Galvan of Round Rock and County Party Chairman John Wehby of Taylor, added that Congressman W. R. "Bob" Poage also hopes to be on hand to endorse the Democratic nominee, although his

Pledges asked for livestock building

A 300x150-foot county livestock building costing approximately $180,000 — with $80,000 to come from individual pledges — was considered when Williamson County Fair and Livestock Association directors met Thursday night to hear their building committee report and to adopt a constitution and by-laws for the organization.

Williamson County Commissioners have already budgeted a one-time $100,000 appropriation for the construction, which will be located in the county seat for use as home of one countywide livestock show and fair.

Directors decided to begin writing building specifications and to obtain as many pledges as possible by their November meeting date.

Confident that the county's residents would support their drive, Association members nonetheless agreed to delay a firm commitment on the building size until they got a better idea of the amount of support available.

IF FULL COST of the building could not be immediately raised, the 300-foot dimension could be cut with an eye to later additions, the eight members and one alternate agreed.

It was the group's first meeting since the September reorganization when Round Rock's Ervin A. Kaatz was elected president, with Bennie Gower of Florence voted vice-president of the directors.

While expressing faith that county residents will enthusiastically support construction of a building which would be useful for more events than an annual livestock showing, directors were obviously aware that opposition in form of the Taylor Chamber of Commerce could cancel all their work.

Before- and after-meeting talk centered around the Wednesday night Taylor Chamber barbecue where buyers who had supported the Taylor livestock show voted a resolution that no county money should be spent on a show building anywhere in Williamson County.

Taylor Chamber President Gene McAlpine and other representatives of the group will present their views to county commissioners Tuesday at 1:15 p.m.

While the vote opposing commissioners' $100,000 appropriation for a livestock show building was reported as having been unanimous, David Oman, a past supporter who attended the Association meeting Thursday night as the alternate director from Hutto, pointed out that there were a significant number of abstentions when the resolution was considered.

"It wasn't unanimous. I'd say maybe 90 percent voted for it — no question about the majority; but it wasn't unanimous," he maintained.

As Association members voted to adopt the pledge method of financing the proposed construction, they were also asked if they would be willing to sign a $50,000 or $75,000 loan for the money.

"THE ONLY WAY I'd have any objection to it would be if for some reason we could get no support at all — but I think these things (100 donation forms distributed at the meeting) are going to work. I feel we are going to get some support," said Gower.

"THAT COULD BE some pie in the face, if we as a body signed for $50,000 and then ended up paying for it out of just our proceeds from a building," agreed Jack Winterrowd of Thrall. Earlier discussion had pointed out that, while the building could be rented to other groups,

Week's news in a nutshell

The bickering continues. President Ford, who was naive enough to believe the Poles and Bulgarians were running their own show, calls Carter naive for thinking a Democratic president will end any threat of an oil boycott by the Arabs.

Meanwhile, Carter is becoming fearful that over-confident Democrats won't turn out at the polls November 2. In a speech in Tampa this weekend he told a crowd that anyone who does not vote next month is a "coward" who has "given up" on his county.

THE FINAL DEBATE between Ford and Carter was held Friday night. Many believe the winner of that face-to-face encounter will be the next president of the United States.

Right now, during the lull and the name-calling, Ford seems to be moving up. Everyone expects the election to be close.

A state-wide write-in campaign will attempt to put Sam Houston of Denton or Tom Lorance of Houston in the Texas Supreme Court rather than Dan Yarbrough, who won the Democratic nomination but is facing almost certain disbarment by the State Bar of Texas for alleged misconduct. Apparently, the guy just won't die, yet is destined to become, unless the write-in is a lot more successful than anyone could hope for, a member of the highest court in Texas, at least for a while.

LEANDER IS MAKING preparations for its seventh annual Old Leander Day, which comes up Nov. 6. The event is sponsored by the FFA and citizens of the area look forward to the festivities with considerable anticipation. Meanwhile, there is some argument brewing over the merits of cutting the school tax rate two cents. Some patrons of the system feel that the rate should be retained and the proceeds — $12,000 — used to pay for some of the things the school system needs. The issue will be discussed when the trustees meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday night.

No report on the Round Rock bond election Saturday had been received at press-time but school people were confident the $7,000,000 issue would pass handily. No tax increase is promised.

Pickle pancakes— what a combo!

U. S. Congressman J. J. "Jake" Pickle will be the special guest of the Georgetown Noon Lions Club for its annual Pancake Supper from 5-8 p.m. Wednesday in the San Gabriel Park Community Building.

Tickets, $1.50 each, are available from any Lions Club member for the "pancakes and trimmings" supper, which is one of the Lions' major fund-raising activities.

Proceeds from the event allow the club to contribute to projects such as the Lions Camp for Crippled Children at Kerrville, and sight conservation.

Several local firms are contributing to the Pancake Supper: the Georgetown H.E.B. store will provide 140 pounds of pancake mix; Piggly Wiggly will donate two cases of butter, three cases of syrup, five cases of milk, and 50 pounds of bacon either free or at cost; Safeway will provide 70 pounds of pancake mix, one case of butter, two cases of syrup, and two cases of milk; the San Gabriel Meat Company will donate 100 pounds of bacon.

United Way plans next drive

"We're already planning for next year," United Way drive chairman Linda Graves of Georgetown announced while discussing the campaign currently underway.

Although the publicity half of the drive ended October 15, with all first calls completed by United Way volunteers, pledge collections are being made through the final report date of November 5. Pledges can be turned in at the Georgetown Chamber of Commerce or to Linda by calling her at 863-5040.

"Of course, we have to start planning for next year sometime," she explained, "and we are confident enough of reaching this year's $19,650 goal to start now.

"We feel that United Way has to continue in Georgetown because of all the areas that it reaches and all that it does."

ONE IDEA the volunteers plan to stress more next time around is the "fair share" concept.

"We want to make people more aware of what fair share giving is, that it's one hour's pay a month. The base for our support comes from the fair share giving of Georgetown employees at Texas Crushed Stone and Westinghouse," she said, estimating that the drive received approximately $10,000 from employees of the two companies.

"Jim Isbell, one of our board members, said he hopes that next year we would be able to organize more in rural areas like Jonah and Walburg and the rural routes around Georgetown, to see people whose children take swimming or are in Scouts or who take advantage of Stonehaven activities or use the library. We haven't contacted our rural citizens to give them the opportunity to participate."

ANOTHER HOPE shared by the volunteers is that a computer printout could be made to keep United Way records more workable. Less bulky than the card stacks now kept from year to year, the printout would include a citizen's past giving record as well as his place of employment and other similar information.

"Now all we have to work with are cards, which are cumbersome and hard to manage," Linda said.

In planning for the next United Way campaign, Linda is also looking for all the citizen input she can find.

Not only is she concerned that interested persons feel encouraged to volunteer their help, and that they in turn receive encourage-

STRATEGY IN THE STRETCH

You have never seen a more lackluster presidential campaign.

NOBODY LIVING has ever seen a national political campaign with fewer fireworks. Where are the noisy tallies, the proliferation of lapel pins, the bumper stickers?

Among the few bumper stickers you do see, these two attest to the dullness of this campaign:

One of them says, "PARK FORD"; the other one says, "GEORGIA PEACHES ARE FUZZY."

It's as though both sides in this political super bowl are afraid to put the ball in the air, afraid to gamble on a fumble.

PRESIDENT FORD does not have a solid electoral vote base anywhere. His chances are good in Illinois and California but he needs five or six of the "Big Eight" states.

Carter, with a less than comfortable lead in the polls, is disinclined to say or do anything which might jeopardize that lead. Back to the football analogy, he'll try to keep the ball within field goal range rather than try for a touchdown.

Norman Miller is Washington bureau chief for The Wall Street Journal. He sees Ford strategy like this:

KEEP THE CAMPAIGN boring. Admittedly their man is not an inspiring campaigner so showcase him as what he is — steady, reliable, safe.

Robert Teeter, Ford pollster, says, "Being 'safe' is a very important commodity for a President. If voters are not sure of someone they won't take a chance on him. However uninspiring, with Ford what you see is what you get."

Carter campaigners, meanwhile, are trying to whittle away at the President's "competence factor," constantly keeping voters reminded of how Mr. Ford stumbled over Poland in the second debate.

We talk about this as an admittedly tepid campaign; perhaps we should be grateful that both men have such impeccable personal histories that neither camp has been able to dig up anything "sensational" with which to discredit the other.

THERE ARE NOT many Americans whose X rays would look as good as either of these.

And where none of us is likely to agree with either of these candidates on all things — none of us is likely to agree with his or her own spouse on all things.

So what will be decided in November is — according to Mr. Miller's evaluation — whether after a campaign by two bores the electorate will elect to go with "good old Gerry" who, at least, has not wrecked the country in two years — or will they prefer to try the comparatively untried one-term governor of Georgia, an apparently erratic person, a born-again Christian who panders to the Playboy set.

So nobody is going to walk into the White House next term; either of two pretty nice guys will back in.

No vote - no complaint?

We all complain about government, yet only half of us vote.

THIS IS A LAMENTABLE, even disgraceful, fact and we have an opportunity, come November 2, to do something about it.

Let's all of us — black, brown, white, majority, minority, Protestant, Catholic, rich and poor — go to the polls and show the whole doggone state that Williamson County is the out-votingest place in Texas. It would be easy, no strain at all. We just have to put it down on the calendar and when the date arrives, head for the closest voting place. It usually takes about 10 minutes to do a job for yourself and for America. Is that asking too much?

WE HOPE YOU WILL do it. It would be a fitting climax in this bicentennial year if Americans, led by Williamson County, defied all the talk about voter apathy and went to the polls in substantive numbers. Do you know that Americans vote in fewer numbers (percentage-wise) than any of the established Democratic nations of the world?

The Christian Science Monitor pointed out this week that the trend of voting has been downward.

"This year, it is said, more voters may stay home than go to the polls. Is the reason really apathy? More likely, it seems, it is a disappointment with the performance of political leaders and institutions, a lack of faith that much will change whoever is elected.

"ALL THIS SUGGESTS a failure of schools, media, and families to educate citizens. It bears constant reminding that democracy is not something static, a pleasant gift bestowed by a few wigged forebears on successive generations. It is an ever-evolving process requiring effort and involvement. It should not be taken for granted, for then it can be lost. If too many Americans withhold their vote as a "protest" they may one day find themselves unable to protest anything. Looking around the world, there are not too many places where every individual has a voice in how his country is run.

"Today's problems are bewildering — inflation, joblessness, urban rundown, corruption. They may not be solved by "big" government but they certainly cannot be solved without good government and good government means an involved and well-informed citizenry. To the oft-heard plaint that the candidates offer little choice, we would say "nonsense." There are choices — in style, character, approach and emphasis — and if voters cannot wholeheartedly cast their ballots for someone they like they can at least vote for those they dislike least."

WITHIN THOSE boundaries, all of us ought to be able to head for the polls next month and do our duty to our country and our heritage.

Is the age of 'just friends' upon us?

Melvin Maddocks

The history of love and friendship suggests that when the stock of one rises, the stock of the other drops. As cultural ideals, the two coexist badly.

Love, to say the least, is a private experience. To the lover, the world is well lost. He is a lyric warbler, perched with his beloved on the last branch of the last tree in creation. Nothing exists except his ecstasy or his suffering, as the case may be, and perhaps – just perhaps – that beloved. For quite possibly, "Beloved" may prove to be only the name for all those exquisite self-centered feelings.

Friendship, on the other hand, is a social value, discoursed upon in rational (if not clinical) prose by essayists whose heads have been screwed on very tight. The advantages of friendship get explained as carefully as a trust fund. Rules are laid down as if friendship were a sort of crop that can be guaranteed to bloom if certain processes of agronomy are followed. Just obey your Bacon-Montaigne formulas, friends, and you can't go wrong.

When lovers turn to the subject of friendship, in their inspired egoism they tend to think of it as something that comes in rolling iambic pentameters, available only to lovers. This attitude makes the friendship-prose writers so cross that they regularly declare friendship to be incompatible with love – it has to be above and beyond the gusts of passion.

Thus Oliver Goldsmith scorns love as "an abject intercourse between tyrants and slaves," while friendship is a "disinterested commerce between equals."

And love is not only undemocratic but transitory, all the wise old heads have cried. Yet, despite the best efforts of Thinking Men and Women, love has generally won the popularity contest if we are to believe the very believable Denis de Rougemont, who argues brilliantly in "Love in the Western World" that practically all the problems of modern marriage stem from our acceptance of the sentimental credo of Tristan and Isolde – our stubborn insistence that life be one long Romeo-and-Juliet balcony scene.

Perhaps it is too soon to say. But at last there are signs of a turn of cycle. The ideal of romantic love, which survived all those centuries of marriage, appears to have been done in by a mere 50 years or so of the Sexual Revolution.

The poet's idea of love – once the supreme hope of young people and the redeemer of the rest of human experience – now seems to produce a mood compounded of cynicism and emotional exhaustion. For the first time in who-knows-how-long you can get a serious hearing for celibacy, particularly but not exclusively among women.

Are we about to enter an Age of Friendship?

A new book, "Friends and Lovers," by an Australian sociologist, Robert Brain, may be taken as symptomatic of a general reaction in favor of friends. "Romantic love," Brain states bluntly, "is past its prime." Furthermore, it has become such an obsessive, all-or-nothing ideal that it has kept us from seeking out decent alternatives with a far better chance of succeeding. Roaming through his comparative anthropology, Brain beguilingly describes all the forms of friendship that have worked, he asserts, from primitive societies on up.

For 20th-century lovers – those battered cases – Brain makes friendship seem so sensible, so serene by comparison with love. But before we all trade in love – life's red sports car – for friendship, the practical sedan, we ought to look a little closer and see if the goods fit the new ads. Is the friend really that much more tolerant than the lover? After all, a friend can swallow us up about as efficiently as a lover. And don't the impasses of a friendship pretty much resemble the impasses of love? Both friends and lovers share one prayer: Not to be alone. And both share a common fundamental problem: The human curse of egocentricity.

A real advance would be to recognize the obvious: that friends do often feel affection at the point of love and that lovers can – and better be – friends. The two states, far from being mutually exclusive, approach one another the more intense either gets. And – let's concede it – both are sentimental. But then, what else is the faith it takes to live day by day but an ongoing act of romanticism?

STATE Capital NEWS

AUSTIN — Texas goat and sheep raisers cannot hunt golden eagles in Texas, the U.S. Interior Department has ruled.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe's request was rejected last week.

Briscoe stirred up something of a storm last month when he asked Interior Secretary Thomas E. Kleppe to grant blanket authorization for stockmen to hunt the eagles in 31 counties of West Texas.

Lynn Greenwalt, director of the Interior Fish and Wildlife Service replied to Briscoe. He said the request was turned down under a policy of former Secretary of Interior Walter J. Hickel which concluded in 1970 against blanket authorizations.

The golden eagle is protected under a special federal act.

The Interior policy referred to by Greenwalt permits consideration of requests from individual ranchers who can demonstrate that they need to hunt the protected birds.

Briscoe requested authority to shoot the eagles after ranchers complained about increasing numbers of the birds near the October 1 beginning of the lambing season.

Ranchers claimed the migratory birds would cause heavy losses in newborn lambs and kid goats.

An outcry was raised subsequently from groups seeking to protect the golden eagles from wholesale attack by outraged ranchers.

"Scandal" Charged

Texas Railroad Commission routinely continued the November state oil production allowable at 100 per cent for the 56th consecutive month.

Meanwhile, Commissioner Mack Wallace termed increased dependence on foreign crude oil "the greatest scandal in the nation."

Wallace charged the U.S. is spending $70,000 a minute importing oil from foreign producing countries.

Major buyers of Texas crude entered requests for more than 3.9 million barrels of oil a day in November.

Employees Fired

House Speaker Bill Clayton fired four veteran House employees last week.

He said they did not fit into his plans to computerize the system of handling legislation.

Discharged were House Chief Clerk Dorothy Hallman, a House employee for 41 years and chief clerk for 20 years; Adele Jacobs, who has been calendar clerk since 1947 and has worked for the legislature since 1931; Assistant Chief Clerk Ruth Rainey, a 10 year veteran; and Assistant Calendar Clerk Cynthia Lewis.

Clayton claimed House members and lobbyists had told him they had been contacted by some of the employees and warned that bills may be lost under the new system or that copies of legislation would not be available. The speaker also said there were just too many employees in the clerk's office.

Mobile Home Probe Set

The Department of Public Safety has launched a statewide probe of mobile home scandals.

DPS spokesmen said owners of the homes are being offered phony contracts under which buyers claim they will agree to pay off the balance owed them.

Courts Speak

The State Bar of Texas has filed a complaint in district court at Houston seeking to disbar, suspend or reprimand Donald B. Yarbrough, Democratic nominee for the State Supreme Court.

The Court of Criminal Appeals affirmed the death penalty for two men who killed an off-duty patrolman.

The same court upheld a trial court decision denying bail for Fort Worth millionaire Cullen Davis in the slaying of his stepdaughter.

The court also reversed the 14 years sentence given a man in the rape of a deaf mute in Bell County.

Hearing Slated

Texas Public Utilities Commission set December 1 as a tentative date for review of the rural rate structure of Central Power and Light Company.

The commission turned down a motion from intervening cities to delay the consolidated hearing until late December after all cities have individually considered rate requests presented to them by CP&L.

Two intervening groups were named by the commission. One consists of 41 South Texas cities. The second combines interested ratepayers in Aransas and Nueces counties, South Padre Island and the Key Alegro Canal Owners Association.

Meanwhile, the commission granted Atty. Gen. John Hill and Texas Municipal League a three-day time extension to intervene in the Southwestern Bell Telephone rate case. The company is seeking a $272 million annual hike.

Share $212.2 Million

Texas cities and counties spent a combined total of $212.2 million in federal revenue sharing funds during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1975, Comptroller Bob Bullock has reported.

Bullock said cities spent 72 per cent of their $132.3 million for capital improvements and the remaining 28 per cent on operating expenses.

He said counties spent 62 per cent of a $79.9 million allotment on capital improvements and 38 per cent on operating expenses. Transportation accounted for 26 per cent of the revenue sharing fund expenditures by both cities and counties.

AUSTIN NOTEBOOK

By Bill Kidd

AUSTIN — Two members of the State Board of Insurance — both normally staid, dignified middle-aged men (one a former judge, one a former speaker of the House) — recently engaged in a fistfight over an administrative order during a board meeting.

THE SUBJECT MATTER of that order was technical and obscure to most folks — it concernd the computation of surplus for dividend purposes.

After the brief brouhaha, both men sheepishly declined to comment, acting embarrassed over the whole affair.

It's kind of embarrassing, too, for a reporter who normally sees the two men in less dramatic circumstances (including church services) to have to ask for details about such an encounter.

But while no one would advocate settling governmental affairs along the lines of Muhammed Ali-George Foreman, it is good to see that state officials have strong feelings on matters.

Members of the Texas Aeronautics Commission also recently forgot about reason and due process and rules and regulations — and got down to trading punches.

Members of both the House and Senate have, in times past, and probably will at some future date, swap a few blows. It's both a Texas and American tradition.

There's less of that sort of thing these days, of course, than there has been.

TEXAS POLITICS and politicians haven't ever been of the shrinking violet variety, even from the earliest days.

Texas' premier politico, Sam Houston, had his share of pugilistic encounters — and got put on trial for one such incident.

Houston, taking exception to some remarks by Congressman William Stanbery of Ohio regarding some contracts for Indian rations, caught Stanbery on a Washington street, and after calling him a "damned rascal," proceeded to thrash him with a hickory cane.

THAT CREATED A SENSATION in 1832 — as it would today — but hardly finished off Houston's career. It might even have helped it.

And look at Gov. E. J. Davis back in the Reconstruction area.

Davis, for all that he was detested by 90 percent of the white population, showed quite a bit of ingenuity — arresting half of the Senate after a tie vote on legislation he wanted passed (and then returning enough of the arrested Senate under guard to maintain a quorum).

Remember the famous "choking" incident where former Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler grabbed former Rep. Jake Johnson of San Antonio — by the tie, Sadler said; by the throat, Johnson said — during the flap over the Spanish galleon material salvaged by Platoro?

Sadler, incidentally, has been quoted as saying his race in 1938 for a Railroad Commission seat was so rugged that he got in 58 fist fights before he won.

AND WHAT ABOUT the wrestling match between Sen. Strom Thurmond and Sen. Ralph Yarborough (which Yarborough lost) when Yarborough attempted to drag Thurmond into a committee hearing?

Fortunately, we've come past the point where political opponents call one another out for coffee and pistols in the morning, like Aaron Burr and Alexander Hamilton.

Equally fortunately, we've not reached the point where government officials are so disinterested in what they're doing that they no longer get angry about anything.

An occasional fist fight and a little acrimony (with the adjectives emphasized) are okay.

It's when there's nothing left worth fighting about that we need to worry.

SOUTHWESTERN UNIVERSITY received more than $100,000 while President and Mrs. Durwood Fleming received a silver bowl Wednesday evening at St. Luke's United Methodist Church in Houston. The church gave the gift in honor of the Flemings to endow the "Southwestern University Scholar in Residence Program in Religion." As a remembrance of the occasion, John Robinson (left), a member of the University's Board of Trustees, presented the Flemings with the silver bowl.

THREE MINISTERS who led in the building of St. Luke's United Methodist Church in Houston, one of the largest in the state, met Wednesday evening as the church honored Southwestern University President and Mrs. Durwood Fleming. President Fleming, left, led in organizing and building the church and served as its minister from 1945-61. Bishop J. Kenneth Shamblin, center, was the pastor of the church until this year when Dr. Walter L. Underwood (right) became its minister.

LECTURING at Southwestern University this week were Dr. Stuart C. Henry, left, and Dr. David G. Mitten. Mitten, a professor of classicial art and archeology at Harvard, has spent the week lecturing on a variety of topics — Greek, art and civilization. Dr. Henry, a professor of American Christianity at Duke University, delivered The Southwestern Lectures on Thursday on the topics "Priests Who Saved the Past" and "Prophets Who Shaped the Future."

Oversize ballot greets November 2 voters

Williamson County voters will be faced with an oversize 16½x22½ ballot November 2, with races ranging from the national presidential contest to unchallenged bids for local constable.

Changes from the sample ballot printed here, which is the ballot persons voting at boxes 1 and 29 will use, will be seen all over the county.

THE KEY to where changes will show up is the election precinct number printed on each voter's registration card.

Persons living in Congressional District 11 — those who have Election Precinct number 5, 13, 15, 20, 21, 23, 25, 27, 28, 33 or 34 on their red and blue registration cards — will help decide the Poage-Burgess race for U. S. Representative. Incumbent Democrat W. R. Poage is being challenged by a fellow Wacoan, Republican Jack Burgess.

All others will see the Pickle-McClure contest under the 10th District U. S. Representative slot.

ONLY VOTERS living in Commissioner Precinct 1 have a county commissioner's race to decide, although Precinct 3 voters will also see a commissioner candidate on their ballots.

While Democrat Raymond Rister is unopposed in his bid for the Precinct 3 commissioner's office, Democrat Carl Lidell faces Republican James Coffman in the Precinct 1 race. Election precincts located within those commissioner precincts are printed in the box on this page.

Voters living in Commissioner Precincts 2 and 4 will hold commissioners' races two years from now.

The only other change voters will see comes at the very bottom of the ballot, in the constable slot. Each of the justice precincts is eligible to elect a constable, the legal arm of the justice of the peace office.

All Democratic nominees, the constable candidates are unopposed in their election bids.

In addition to C. T. Russell, Justice Precinct 1 constable candidate, the following are nominees to constable positions in Williamson County: incumbents H. T. Ward in Justice Precinct 2, Granger's Lee Hays in Precinct 3, Liberty Hill; and Charles A. Fuller in Precinct 6, as well as first-timer Jerry Drummond from Round Rock Justice Precinct 8.

NO CANDIDATE will be listed on ballots for Justice Precinct 4 because of the death of incumbent nominee Lawrence H. Clark.

County Clerk Dick Cervenka explained, "The law says if the nominee of the party dies prior to the time of the printing of the ballot, then his name shall be left off."

Since no one filed for the nomination following Clark's death, the vacancy leaves open the possibility of a write-in candidate for constable in the Florence area.

Two state constitutional amendments will be printed at the bottom of each ballot in Texas.

POLL LOCATIONS, which may undergo one change after county commissioners meet Tuesday, will be printed in the Thursday issue of the Williamson County SUN.

Commissioners are considering changing the voting location in Election Precinct 1 from the county auditor's office to the commissioners' courtroom.

Absentee balloting could forecast large voter turnout on November 2

Pre-election registration drives in the county seem to be paying off as a high turnout in absentee balloting could predict an equally good response November 2.

County Clerk Dick Cervenka's office reported 366 absentee ballots cast in the presidential election as of noon Friday, a number which Cervenka approved as indicative to date of a good turnout. "There's been a lot more at this time, and they still have through next Friday.

"Absentee voting is heavier — up until this point — compared to the last presidential election, too," he said. "Of course, I don't know what they are going to do from here out — there are still five voting days left."

Absentee voting ends October 29.

IN 1972, the last presidential election year, approximately 450 persons voted absentee. A record voter turnout that year recorded 11,203 ballots cast out of 17,360 registrations.

Discussing the especially large paper ballots which all Williamson County voters will be using this election, Cervenka said "We are having to re-instruct all the judges in these especially large (election) boxes because when they get through at the end of election day they are supposed to lock all of the voted ballots in Box 3.

"Now we are instructing them to lock them in Box 3 and Box 4. When they are through counting they will put a paster on Number 4 and call it "3-A." Then both of those boxes will be delivered to the sheriff's office.

FOOTBALL CONTEST
PICK THE WINNERS AND WIN A PRIZE

Here's How You Play:

HERE WE GO AGAIN! It's football time -- and time for the annual County SUN Football Contest. If you're a Saturday morning armchair quarterback, you can enter this fun Contest and check up on yourself! Might even win a little money at it or a free theater ticket.

Here's a game to test your skill -- it's a game that the whole family can enjoy. Spread this page out on the kitchen table. Let everybody play. There'll be a new contest each week until about the middle of November.
So ready, get set, GO!

- Win $10, $5 or $3 for first, second or third respectively
- Next five winners may pick up a free ticket to the Palace Theater!
- Pick up all prizes and theater tickets at The SUN.
- The only notification of the winners will be in the following week's issue.
- See this week's football games on this page.
- In each game, check the team you think will win. (You do NOT need to indicate score).
- Unless all games are marked, your entry will be automatically disqualified.
- Then to eliminate as nearly as possible any ties in this fun-test, every entry must have the score marked on "The Tie Breaker" game listed at right.
- Only one entry per person will be qualified, but as many from a family may enter as wish to do so -- except employees and families of the Williamson County SUN.
- You may enter the fun-test on this page. Or you may copy the games on another sheet of paper, indicating your pick in each game.
- All entries must be brought to The SUN by 5:00 p.m. Friday or mailed with a postmark not later than 7:00 p.m. Friday of each week. The SUN will grade all entries, and The SUN's decision will be Final and incontestable.
- Have FUN! And patronize the businesses whc make this fun-test possible.

THE WILLIAMSON COUNTY Sports

SETTING UP the ball for a Southwestern University spike is Mellisa Hardberger (43) backed up by Tracy Strane (51). Southwestern defeated San Antonio College, last year's national junior college champions, and then dropped a close match to Baylor University here Wednesday.

A PERFECT SERVE by Southwestern University's Tracy Strane kept San Antonio College backed up in a match here Wednesday. The Pirates now have a glittering 19-9 record as they go into the St. Mary's University Tournament this weekend in San Antonio. The next home games for Southwestern will be here Tuesday with Incarnate Word College and Concordia of Austin beginning at 5:30 p.m.

County produces four SU players

Williamson County hasn't been a hotbed of high school basketball in recent years, but it has produced four players who are now a part of the expanding basketball program at Southwestern University.

Steve Doering, former standout at both Georgetown High and Concordia Junior College, and Tommy Johnson, an all-around athlete from Hutto and Temple Junior College, will both make important contributions to the varsity team this season.

Freshmen Dan Edwards of Georgetown and Tommy Ellisor of Pflugerville will be important in the formation of a new junior varsity program.

Johnson and Doering, both guards, will log quite a bit of playing time this year as the Pirates try to improve on last year's second place conference finish. In addition to basketball, Doering is an avid golfer and will be a member of the SU golf team in the spring. Steve is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Doering.

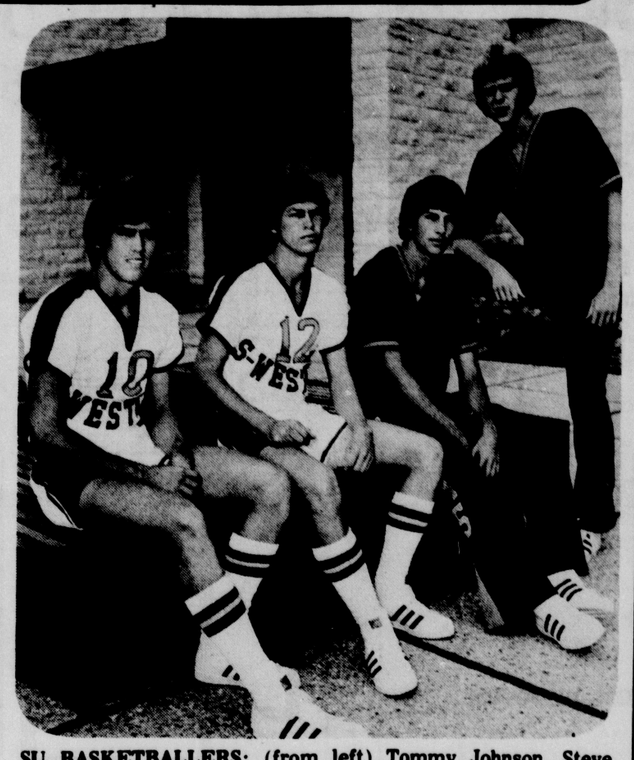

Johnson, an outstanding shooter, comes from Hutto High School, where he earned a total of 12 letters in three sports. Tommy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Johnson.

Pflugerville freshman Tommy Ellisor received honorable mention on the 28A all-district and the all-Williamson County teams.

Dan Edwards is the son of Pirate Head Coach John Edwards. Dan, who also enjoys sailing, was named to the District 12AAA second team.

Both players are uncertain about their future in basketball at Southwestern, but are looking forward to the 1976 season.

Johnson summed up the season by saying, "the team has togetherness; we will have a real good season." Doering adds, "it will be a disappointment if Southwestern doesn't take the conference championship."

Eagle's Eye

By NATALIE HUBBARD

Talon Editor Jarvis Angely showed his "superior" journalistic talents this week by asking, "Natalie, how do you spell journalism?" When I asked him how he had spelled it, he replied "J-O-O-R-N-A-L-I-S-M! Who says all editors know everything about journalism?

The next time you are watching the Blue Wings struggle to pull up the run-through sign, think before you criticize. I helped them pull the sign up the cold, wet night of the Lockhart game. Getting the sign up is not the last problem, however. Trying to hold it up while the players run through it and tear it apart is hard. I nearly slipped.

While the bonfire was burning, the triumphant Freshman conquered the Round Rock Dragon team, 13-0 and kept their undefeated status.

J.V. players had an unusual tie score of 0-0. I've never heard of a 0-0 game, but it probably has happened before.

Cast and crew members of "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay," along with other students, struck the plays' set Wednesday afternoon.

Tuesday night, after the casts' final and best performance, the company held a cast party at Mr. Gatti's. Along with pizza demolishing, tennis playing, movie watching, and talking, the "Golden Hubcap" award was given. Members cast their ballots on napkins. Freshman David Morse, who played Otis Skinner (the father) received the award for the best supporting actor.

The "Golden Hubcap," which is really a golden wheel, is awarded the last night of the first show each year. The lucky recipient has to sleep with the "hubcap" under his pillow the night he accepts the award.

Tobin Holden, last year's winner claims the award is hard, cold and does not make sleeping easy.

Junior Historians are having a lunch meeting in the Food Service Lab. Any members that want to eat the spaghetti lunch should get their money in to Mrs. Mugford, soon.

Thanks to you it works...

Hot chili readied for Florence homecomers

Florence friends and homecomers are invited to bowls of steaming hot chili before the 7:30 p.m. homcoming game against Liberty Hill in Florence Friday night, October 29.

Sponsored by the Florence Athletic Booster Club, the all-you-can-eat meal will be served from 5-7 p.m. in the Elementary School cafeteria.

Admission is $1.25 for persons junior high school age and older, 75 cents for others.

Tea or coffee is included in the ticket price and pie, cake and cookies will also be available.

Films of football games dating back to 1966 will be shown during the two-hour serving period.

Following the District 28 football game, ex-students will meet in the high school building.

The Booster Club, which supports projects related to the athletic program at the Florence schools, invites interested persons to attend its weekly meetings Monday nights at 7 p.m. in the high school building.

TV Star Scene

The producers of Rhoda may have edged David Groh out of the series, but Groh could very well end up the winner in the separation. He has been offered a deal by CBS to star in his own series and word in the industry has it that his performance in "The Two Minute Warning" is a knockout . . . Peter Falk was only to have done two episodes of Columbo this year, but now NBC has announced he'll do at least four. No mention was made of what suddenly inspired Falk to change his mind.

The Quest keeps racking up stars of the past as guests. Latest is Howard Keel, who hasn't appeared on TV in 8 years, although he's been making personal appearances regularly . . . Dick Gautier is another actor reeping the rewards of cancellation. The star of the aptly titled When Things Were Rotten has just been signed by Universal Studios to do both TV and theatrical films for the company.

If Starsky & Hutch are winning in the ratings, then Barney & Benny will knock 'em dead, right? Well, maybe. That's the hope of NBC anyway. In the latest variation on the cop show theme, NBC has come up with a pilot film, "Benny and Barney: The Aristocrats," to air Nov. 3. No, they're not high class guys, just two suspended cops working the Vegas strip as a singing duo, The Aristocrats. Great idea, right? Terry Kiser and Timothy Thomerson play the singing officers.

Muscleman Arnold Schwarzenegger is busting out all over. First he gave an impressive showing in "Stay Hungry," Now ABC has signed him for an episode of The Streets of San Francisco, playing another body beautiful type . . . Richard Boone is on location, filming ABC's "The Last Dinosaur" on Japan's Inland Sea . . . Neil Simon is writing and directing the pilot of a TV-series version of his play "The Sunshine Boys."

"This is the first time my daughter has ever had the opportunity to zing it to me in front of an audience," reported Danny Thomas, as daughter Marlo Thomas guested on a segment of The Practice, to air Wed., Oct. 27.

The two have appeared on television only twice before, most recently when Danny did a cameo on Marlo's That Girl series in 1969. Before that, they appeared in a Zane Grey Theatre drama telecast in the late '50s.

"It was a very emotional experience working with Marlo," said Danny. "We've been trying to do something together for the longest time, but the opportunity didn't present itself.

"This appearance was especially emotional because of the nature of the show. I mean, my daughter plays a very sick young lady, and you can't help but become involved. It's tough to do a show in which I am talking to my own daughter about dying."

According to her father, Marlo thought of the show as a test, to prove she could work well with him. "I told her she didn't have to prove anything to me. Marlo is a perfectionist, a younger Lucy (Lucille Ball), and she has a very fine comedic sense."

Danny Thomas is one man who knows how to get on the good side of his kids.

HOW HIGH -- Robert Conrad seems to be much shorter than most of the people on Baa Baa Black Sheep. How tall is he anyhow? Mike Jones, Spring Hope, N.C.

Conrad's bio has him listed as 5'10" but I suspect that's a bit of an exaggeration.

HOW OLD -- How old is Toni Tennille and where was she born? Terry K., Waterbury, Conn.

Toni is "in her early 30s" and was born in Montgomery, Ala. She moved to California with her family, though, in 1962.

SET-UP SMILES -- This sounds like a silly question, but are Donny and Marie's teeth for real, or are they capped? J.L., Macon, Mo.

Mrs. Osmond swears that every one of her kids' sparkling teeth are their own. But, she admits, those dazzling smiles cost the family a lot of money in orthodontist bills.

FALK FACTS -- Where was Peter Falk born and how did he become an actor? Josie Lewis, Shasta, Calif.

Falk hails from New York City, can't you tell? Falk, who has a B.A. and M.A. in public administration from Syracuse University, was an employe of the state of Connecticutt when he decided to take acting lessons for a change of pace. He joined Eva LeGallienne's class, and it was she who urged him to take it up as a career. In 1955 he did just that, quit his job and returned to the Big Apple. Less than a month later, the 26-year-old Falk landed a role in an off-Broadway production of "The Iceman Cometh." Other roles followed, and thus a career was launched.

VAN DYKE ERA -- How many seasons did the original Dick Van Dyke Show last. Also, what was Richie's (his son) middle name. I have a bet on this with a friend of mine. Frances Tremont, Columbia Heights, Minn.

The Dick Van Dyke Show first aired in 1961 and ran through the 1966-67 season. Richie Petrie's middle name was Rosebud, named after the famous final words of Orson Welle's in "Citizen Kane," referring to his childhood sled.

Tim Matheson's personal quest

TIM MATHESON: "We've got things all backwards these days."

The Quest has begun to rub off on one of its stars, Tim Matheson. Once a college-bred liberal, he's become a staunch advocate of the law of the West -- the kind of instant justice you just can't get in today's labyrinth of a criminal justice system.

"We've got things all backwards today," says the concerned young actor. "I feel that if a person breaks a law in our society, he forfeits his rights. I believe in justice and the law and the necessity of proving guilt, but if all that is taken care of, the criminal must be punished.

"There are no crimes anymore. It's all for a cause. The Harrises claim they are not doing anything wrong. I don't buy that. How many innocent people get killed by people with a cause who 'aren't doing anything wrong?' Don't the innocent have rights?"

All of this discussion came out of a recently filmed scene from an episode of The Quest, in which he and Kurt Russell, as the Baudine brothers, seek out and execute some men who were guilty of lynching. He says he appreciated that form of justice, but is quick to assert he is not a raving fascist.

"I am a liberal in the sense that I am anti-war. I was behind the student demonstrations -- I didn't participate but I agreed. I used to be extremely liberal in the terms of civil liberties and prison reform, and in many ways I still am. But when it comes down to rights, everyone is ultimately responsible for himself. It's not society that's at fault. The problem today is no one is taking that responsibility."

Matheson is also a strong advocate of patriotism. "What's wrong with loving your country? Sure, it makes a lot of mistakes, but we can help correct them. To me this last Fourth of July was a great day, because we were all united in a common Americanism."

Americanism and the Western are to Matheson synonymous, so he's quite pleased with his role in the new series, the first of what may become a revival in TV Westerns. "Westerns are the American version of classics and the period forces the actor to develop character. People who ride horses for transportation walk differently from those who drive cars. If I'm typed in Westerns I can't think of a better place to be."

But he is still not content, with all his love for the genre, to work only in cowboy epics. Matheson has tackled the "real" classics as well. He played Romeo to Penny Fuller's Juliet in San Diego a couple of seasons ago and got impressive reviews. He didn't know what the reviews of the next day would be when he walked on stage opening night, so the moment was one of sheer dread.

"I entered through the theatre and I was standing there and heard the speech just before my entrance and I suddenly thought, 'What am I doing here? This is another fine mess I've gotten myself into.'"

When it turned out to be far from a mess, Matheson decided to work further in the theatre. Most recently, he appeared in Shaw's "Man of Destiny."

But he still respects the world of video and film. "I had an inverse snobbery. I believed the stage is where it's at for an actor. Not any more. Now I respect stage and film actors equally."

So if the show's a success, he'll stick with it because, afterall, he can't beat "getting paid for what we did every Friday evening for fun as kids. We are acting out our fantasy, riding horses and being heroes."

Peter Strauss: looking for a power base

By DAN LEWIS

Two young actors make their mark in a new series. One looks for new fields to conquer. The other sees his future rooted in the same area for the time being. This clearly defines the courses taken by Nick Nolte and Peter Strauss.

Both emerged as television stars last season as they played the Jordache brothers in ABC's startingly successful television adaptation of Irwin Shaw's novel, "Rich Man, Poor Man." The series, a mid-season phenomenon, did so well for ABC in the ratings, it seemed inevitable that what was primed for a limited-run series would be continued into the new fall season.

It almost did not come to pass because of the reluctance of most of the prime characters to ride along with the series for another season. Nolte might have been resurrected from the past (he died in what was originally planned as the series finale) had he inclined to go along with the new season.

But Nolte made it perfectly clear that he wanted to venture into feature films. He is getting $225,000 to costar in a film version of Peter Benchley's latest book, "The Deep," now on location in Bermuda. Jacqueline Bisset and Robert Shaw are costarred.

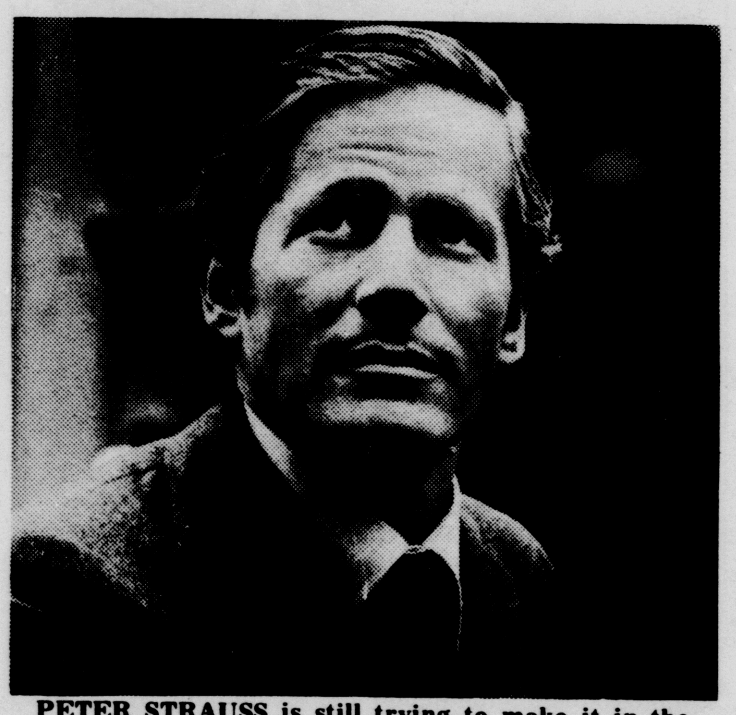

Peter Strauss was also reluctant to continue in the series. He once was considered a bright prospect in Hollywood as a film star. He has worked steadily, but his reputation, while good as an actor, did not move appreciably forward as initially anticipated.

Suddenly, he achieved the plateau of stardom, but in television, not feature films. ABC obviously wanted to continue.

"My first answer was 'no.' I was not resting on those laurels. It seemed no possible way we could continue the series," Strauss declared.

But the show's popularity with the public was so overwhelming, Fred Silverman, President of ABC Entertainment, concluded it should continue. The alternatives, without a principal returning character were limited.

"He needed one of us," Strauss claimed. "Nick was firm. I thought I was, too. The alternatives (for ABC) were flashbacks, or age (take the series years ahead and bring in new actors for the roles)."

PETER STRAUSS is still trying to make it in the tough world of show biz, after Rich Man, Poor Man failed to bring him promised success.

Then Strauss, who played Rudy Jordache, the more stable of the brothers, had a change of mind. The catalyst may have been the sudden interest in the television series from Shaw, the book's author. Until this point, Shaw had shown little, if any, interest in the TV series, other than to note that the series had stimulated book sales -- 750,000 sold after the four episodes were played. Shaw then got interested in the series. In two days, he watched 12 hours of the taped segments. Then he sat down at his typewriter and, in three days, turned out 90 pages of material for future episodes, according to Strauss.

Millard Lampell, a Paterson native, was signed on as headwriter, and 15 hours were completed in treatment form before production was started. Strauss was impressed with the new material. He agreed to continue, and Rich Man, Poor Man was back on the schedule for the new season.

The show's early ratings are still strong. There have been some indications of Strauss's displeasure with the way his role has turned out this season, but in earlier interviews, he had other thoughts. He liked the material, and "loved the fact that I could see the entire story written out in advance and see the character develop."

Strauss was serious about moving on to other things at the end of last season. He joined the cast of "The Last Tycoon," the feature film version of Scott Fitzgerald's novel, which stars Jack Nicholson.

"What delighted me here is that I could change and develop a complex new character that I was creating."

Instead of new strides in his career, "The Last Tycoon" proved to be merely a hiatus project. Into the new season, Strauss said the level of this year's material was above some of the pulp, as he called it, that occasionally surfaced last season.

As of now, 22 episodes are ready -- an entire season. If the ratings falter, and the show doesn't make it past mid-season, Strauss noted, the series would end in the middle. Each episode will not be a story unto itself. They are continuing episodes.

The toughest part for Strauss has provem to be the aging process.

"It's tough to play a 40-year-old man when you're 29," he said.

Strauss is under a one-year contract.

"I possibly could go on," he explained, "but I want to guard against an unhappy situation. Television has a habit of slipping into mediocrity.

"Television is very young. I do want to stay in it. It gives you incredible, devastating exposure. Nick (Nolte) feels differently. His attitude was once you're in it, get out of it. I want to stay in television until I get enough power.

"Then I can bring projects to television. All of a sudden, doors have opened for me, thanks to Rich Man, Poor Man. If we bomb this season, I'm on my backside again, and I'll have to start all over, again."

King appointed bond chairman

John T. King, The SUN's Managing Editor and owner of Heritage Printing, has accepted appointment by the U. S. Department of the Treasury to serve as volunteer chairman for the Williamson County Savings Bonds Committee.

In announcing King's appointment, John V. James, Chairman of the Texas Savings Bonds Committee remarked, "His business experience and active participation in community affairs will be most valuable in his volunteer service as Williamson County chairman, especially in these times when the United States Savings Bonds Program takes on increasing importance in helping to keep our nation economically strong and secure."

As Williamson County chairman, King will work with other community leaders in a year-round program to encourage increased purchase of Savings Bonds at banks and on the Payroll Savings Plan.

King is well known in Georgetown civic affairs circles. He is a member of the Georgetown Rotary Club and the Georgetown Noon Lions Club.

Removing the THORN

Almost everyone that has ever removed a shoe and run barefoot through the fields, knows of the wonderful feeling of freedom that this gives. Most, also have known what it is to remove a sticker or a thorn. The first attempts to pull it out are usually handled so gingerly and slowly, and then, screwing up your courage you yank it out, and find that this was the easiest way after all.

There are many thorns in life, and these evils should be removed swiftly, and put out of our lives. Attend Church, receive help and encouragement in removing the thorns from your life.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Support for United Way is—support for Boy Scouts

Over 200 Georgetown boys and 100 local adults are active in Boy Scouting, a program designed to help boys grow physically and emotionally, as well as mentally.

The Georgetown Area United Way organization has budgeted $3,300 of this year's $19,650 fund drive goal to support Boy Scouts here. Drive chairman Linda Graves said this is the largest contribution budgeted for any single local service agency.

Money alloted to the Boy Scouts opens doors for camps, professional help, canoe trips, jamborees and other worthwhile activities. The money is also used to train adult leaders.

Local Boy Scout district chairman Ernest Lincoln and his advisory committee will oversee distribution of the funds donated to the agency, deciding how the money is used.

"Boy Scouts are alive and well and working in Georgetown, and they need your support," said Mrs. Graves.

One way you can support Georgetown Boy Scouting is to contribute your "fair share" — one hour's pay a month to the local United Way, which is continuing its fund drive through Friday, November 5.

To pledge, drop by the Georgetown Chamber of Commerce office (103 W. Ninth St., 863-2251) or contact Linda Graves at 863-5040.

Some of the youngsters involved in Boy Scouting here, and their leaders, include:

Other Georgetown troops include Troop 150, which meets with Henry Vasquez at St. Helen's Catholic Church on Monday nights, and Troop 153, sponsored by the Georgetown Optimist Club, which meets with Johnny Snow in San Gabriel Park, also on Monday nights.

Liberty Hill NEWS

BY HOWARD N. WILSON

Our International Sculpture Symposium is going into its second weekend, and the site is now even more imposing with all the flags waving in the breeze. Many people from out-of-town have already stopped to witness this unique happening, and many more are expected to come by before it is over.

The students of our town, all of them, have already visited at least once with these artists in action, and it is safe to assume that they will return several more times. We want to invite ALL of YOU to come to our town for this once-in-a-lifetime event!

The Liberty Hill PTA is sponsoring this year's Halloween Carnival which will be held from 6:30 until 9:30 p.m. on Saturday, October 30 at Liberty Hill Market Square in downtown Liberty Hill.

Each grade in our schools has elected their nominees for King and Queen as follows: morning kindergarten—Kevin Pogue and Vicki McLeod; afternoon kindergarten—Ray Johns and Angel Allman; Monroe's first grade — Amy Byler and Jeff Fenel; Sikes' first grade — Sheila Teague and Don Brewer; second grade—Thomas Blom and Cara Conway; third grade of Carothers—Susan Haight and Norman Holland; third grade of Ford — Lori Ledenham and Brian Staton; fourth grade of Marcom — Geneva Calley and Kelly Shuffield; fourth grade of Cooper—Kim Marcom and Mike Loyd; fifth grade—Kay Cantrell and Victor Stephens; sixth grade — Kim Macon and John Pina; seventh grade—Edward Pina and Sue Cantrell; eighth grade—Maurice Stephens and Lisa Floyd; ninth grade—Steve Loyd and Gayle Lenox; tenth grade—Omar Lopez and Becky Weber; eleventh grade—Curtis Floyd and Cindy Montgomery; and twelfth grade—Perry Baugh and Terry Wiginton.

The king and queen will be announced at a coronation during the Halloween carnival.

Next week will be designated as "Spirit Week" at Liberty Hill High School. Monday there will be "Sock-it-to-'em" and "Hats-off-to-the-Panthers activities;" Tuesday will be "Fifties day"; and Wednesday will be "School Colors Day."

All classes will be competing hoping to be named as the most "Spirited Class" to be chosen on Wednesday. Thursday and Friday will be student holidays as the teachers attend "In-service" training sessions.

The Liberty Hill Junior High and the Junior Varsity Panthers will be playing their counterparts from Florence on Thursday beginning at 6 p.m. on the home gridiron. Friday evening the Liberty Hill Panthers' Varsity team will go to Florence for their fourth district game, beginning at 7:30 p.m. — SEE YOU THERE!

The last volleyball games of the week were played at home Tuesday with the junior high, junior varsity and varsity team all losing matches to the Granger Lions.

The scores for the Junior High Team were 18 to 16, 10 to 15, and 10 to 15. High pointers were Tammy Linehan and Sue Cantrell with 7 points each; Denise Stultz made 6 points, Lisa Lovelady made 5 points, Cynthia Loehr and Lace Knox made 4 points each; Kathryn Merrill and Lisa Bohanan made 1 point each.

The Junior Varsity scores were 9 to 15, and 9 to 15, with Sherry Hays getting 8 points to lead in the scoring; Linda Hernandez got 7 points with Donna Holder, Debbie Sessler and Beth Wear each getting 1 point.

The Varsity scores were 8 to 15, and 9 to 15, with Natha Wetzel and Cynthia Williamson each scoring 4 points to lead in the scoring. Diane Williams and Laura Hinesly had 3 points each, Kellie Weems made 2 points and Debbie Bohanan made 1 point.

Team captains for the year were elected last week as follows: Junior High — Tammy Linehan and Denise Stultz; Junior Varsity—Sherry Hays; Varsity—Shirl Holder and Kellie Weems.

Margoliash discusses evolution of protein

A Northwestern professor will be lecturing at Southwestern University Monday, October 25, on evolutionary changes in protein structure.

Dr. Emanuel Margoliash, professor of biochemistry and molecular biology at Northwestern University, will speak on the topic "Functional Basis for Evolutionary Changes in Protein Structure" at 4 p.m. Monday in room 100 of Fondren Science Hall.

Dr. Margoliash was born in Cairo, Egypt, and holds BA, MA and MD degrees from American University, Beirut.

His experience includes serving as fellow in pathology at Hebrew University, Israel; research associate in Hobel Institute, Sweden; Montreal Research Institute; Abbot Laboratories (protein section) in Chicago; and at Northwestern.

Dr. Margoliash's areas of interest and publications are in structure-function relations and evolutionary relations of heme proteins, and in energy conservation mechanisms.

Any interested person is invited to attend.

Bodden visits Southwestern

Students at Southwestern University will have an opportunity to learn more about graduate counseling psychology programs Friday when a Texas Tech professor visits the campus.

Dr. Jack Bodden, director of counseling psychology at Texas Tech, will speak at a luncheon meeting Friday in the upstairs dining room of the University Commons in a program sponsored by the humanistic psychology department.

His talk will focus on graduate programs in the area of counseling psychology at Texas Tech University. He will also be available for conferences with individuals following the luncheon meeting.

Dr. Bodden is a 1965 graduate of Southwestern University.

County students earn UT degrees

Among 156 students receiving doctor of philosophy degrees from the University of Texas Graduate School at the close of the summer session was Meredith McClain of Georgetown.

The University also awarded 365 master's degrees as the session ended.

Receiving her master of education degree was Mildred Jean Rusk of Georgetown.

Master's degree recipients, announced by Dr. Irwin C. Lieb, vice-president and dean of graduate studies, also included Barbara Ann Griffin of Leander, who received a master of arts degree; Richard Warner Berkley of Round Rock, master of music; and Dorian French, also of Round Rock. French earned a master of science in environmental health engineering.

Not included in the announcement were students who received master's degrees through the Graduate School of Business and the UT Austin School of Nursing.

Awarded bachelor's degrees by the UT College of Fine Arts were Wendy Julia Osborn of Georgetown, who received a bachelor of fine arts degree, and two Williamson County residents taking bachelor of arts degrees in art: Judy Catherine Ingram of Georgetown and Brenda Gay Fondren of Taylor.

Sales tax reminder

Anyone who has a question regarding the state sales tax, a sales tax return or a question about their tax return, can get free help at the tax office in the county courthouse on October 28.

A state comptroller's employee will spend from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. every fourth Thursday of each month in the tax office to provide the taxpayer assistance.

'Haunted house' to benefit Capital Area March of Dimes

Anticipation need not keep you waiting, if it's Halloween you are waiting for.

The haunted "House of the Witches' Moon" has already opened at Northcross Mall in Austin to benefit the Capital Area Chapter of the March of Dimes.

"All proceeds will go to the March of Dimes," emphasized Cathy Hubbard of Georgetown, Williamson County coordinator for the area chapter.

The haunting — approximately a 20 minute treat — can be experienced between 7 p.m. and midnight nightly through October 31.

Admission for the tours is $2 for adults and $1 for children under 18.

"There is no age limit," Cathy said.

Troop 153 seeks boys for scouting

Any boy age 11 or who has attained the fifth grade in school who might be interested in Boy Scouting may contact Johnny Snow (817) 783-2371 or Ira Whitehead 863-3190 for information.

Boy Scout Troop 153 meets on Tuesday from 7:30 to 9 p.m. in the Scout Hut in San Gabriel Park. Parents and adults interested in Scouting are urged to attend.

Eleven girls receive badges in Troop 625

Investiture and Court of Honor was held by Girl Scout Troop 625 at their meeting on Wednesday, October 20.

Tammy Holcomb was invested into Scouts. Joanna and Lydia Smith came into Scouts for the first time in Georgetown. Sue Woodlief is a transfer Scout from Austin.

Those receiving badges included Melissa Douglas, Joy Gardner, Holly King, Carolyn Saterfield, Mary Harrision, Tammy Holbomb, Sue Woodlief, Shelly Rodgers, Kimberly Davidson, Valicia Rose and Valerie Norman.

Carolyn Gardner and Juanita Whitehead are troop leaders. Troop 625 is composed of Troops 227 and 625.

Williamson County Baptists hold meeting in Liberty Hill

The Williamson County Baptists' annual meeting held recently at Liberty Hill was attended by over 180 representatives of the 24 Baptist churches in the Williamson County Baptist Association.

The Rev. John Rudd, pastor of Pond Springs Baptist Church, Jollyville, was elected moderator for the Association for the upcoming church year.

Williamson County Associational Churches have a resident membership of over 4500.

The Rev. Tommy Burress, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Round Rock, was elected vice-moderator. Brother Burress delivered the doctrinal sermon during the annual meeting. The Rev. Ed Jennings, pastor of First Baptist, Florence, delivered the main sermon during the evening services.

Among awards presented at the meeting was a Church Extension Award given to Pond Springs Baptist Church for establishing Friendship Baptist Mission in Shenendoah subdivision.

County A&M Mothers Club plans annual turkey supper

The Williamson County A&M Mothers Club will hold its October meeting at the home of Alice Schernik in Taylor on Tuesday, October 26.

The Moms of students or former students of Texas A&M University are invited to attend.

Plans for the Turkey Supper to be held at the American Legion Hall in Taylor on November 3 will be finalized. The proceeds from the turkey supper are used for scholarships and in support of various student organizations on the campus of A&M.

During the 1976-77 school year the club awarded a $500 scholarship to a high school senior who enrolled at A&M for the 1976-77 school year and gave $600 to student organizations on the campus. These organizations included The Aggie Bank, Fish Drill Team, Parsons Mounted Cavalry, The Reveille Fund, Singing Cadets and the University Hospital.

For further information or for the purchase of a ticket for the turkey supper call Pat Sanders at 863-2867.

We have two new homes in Golden Oaks. These are quality homes with the fine touches for gracious living. Both are ready for your final touches and are on acreage tracts.

Bring your hammer and paintbrush and as you work, enjoy the 3 bedrooms, 2 baths, and large fenced yard. This house is priced below $17,-000.

Looking for one of Georgetown's lovely large old homes with lots of charm and lots of huge pecan trees? I have one with 4 bedrooms, 1½ baths on 2 large lots. Reasonably priced.

Veteran no down payment! Over 1400 ft. living space for $28,050. Nice area. Also, F.H.A. financing with small down payment.

This lovely place is not just a 3 bdrm., 2 bath house but a home. Its many niceties include a large detached workshop, unusually pretty redwood and stone fence, and covered patio.

Older home with 3 bedrooms, 2 baths, central heat & air. Unusual arrangement would be perfect for studio, hobby room, (or maybe a mother-in-law?).

Like rustic country living? You must see this 3 bedroom home in the country. No restrictions.

South of town ½ mile. Approx. 1200 sq. feet home with attached garage, well, TP&L electricity.

March of Dimes sponsors haunting

If bobbing for applies seems a tame way to spend your Halloween, check out the "House of the Witches' Moon,"

It's open now, but tours are only conducted between 7 p.m. and midnight at Northcross Mall in Austin. Enter from the north parking lot.

Proceeds from ticket sales — $2 for adults and $1 for children under 18 — will benefit the Capital Area Chapter of the March of Dimes, said Cathy Hubbard, Williamson County MOD coordinator.

Cathy also reminds Georgetownites, "We are recruiting people to help with the "Mothers' March" in January — and men can march if they want to."

Volunteers are being asked from all parts of the county.

To volunteer, contact Cathy at 863-6144.

Services for Charles Osborn Wednesday

Funeral services were held for Charles A. Osborn on Wednesday, October 20, 1976, at 10:00 a.m. at the Davis Chapel.

Mr. Osborn, 74, died at the Georgetown Hospital on Monday, October 18.

The Rev. Kenneth Morgan officiated at the services with burial in the I.O.O.F. cemetery. One of his favorite hymns, "God Be With You Till We Meet Again" was presented.

Serving as pallbearers were Marvin Menley, James Vogler, Eddie Catron, Billy Freeman, Elmo Sherman, and Herman Catron.

Mr. Osborn was born in Marion, Alabama on September 8, 1902, the son of Annie Brady Osborn and George T. Osborn. On March 10, 1922 he was married to Annie Connelly at Selma, Alabama.

Survivors include his wife, Annie Osborn; a daughter, Mrs. Lou Smith of Selma, Alabama; two grandsons, David Adams of Austin, and Gary Adams of Selma, Alabama; and three great grandchildren.

John L. Miller buried Oct. 20

John L. Miller, 77, farmer, of Rt. 2, Georgetown, died at the Georgetown Hospital on Monday, October 18, 1976.

Funeral services were held at the Zion Lutheran Church in Walburg on Wednesday, Oct. 20, at 2:30 p.m. with the Rev. Lowell Rossow officiating. Mr. Miller was a long-time member of the church. Burial was in the Zion Lutheran Church cemetery.

Pallbearers were Dean Burk, Rickey Burk, Don Miller, Gary Bleeke, Tim Miller and Louis Miller.

Mr. Miller was born in Williamson County on April 2, 1899, the son of Marie Richter Miller and Henry Miller. He was married to Hilda Bielss on November 9, 1920, at St. Peters Lutheran Church in Walburg.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Hilda Miller; two sons, Leon B. Miller and John W. Miller, both of Austin; three daughters, Miss Lee Dora Miller, Austin; Mrs. Lillie Bleeke, Decatur, Indiana; and Mrs. Ruth Burks, Austin; one sister, Mrs. Marie Mobley of Lake Livingston, Texas.

Mrs. Jack Davis is buried Thursday

Mrs. Jack Davis, the former Virginia Banks, of Rt. 1, Leander, died at her home on Tuesday, October 19, 1976, at the age of 66.

Mrs. Davis was born in Jackson Gap, Alabama on December 4, 1909, the daughter of Linnie Shank Banks and Dr. M. J. Banks.

Graveside services were held on Thursday, October 21, at 2:00 at the Bagdad Cemetery with the Reverend H. James officiating.

She is survived by her husband, Jack Davis of Leander; a brother, Dr. Joe Banks of Dadeville, Alabama; four sisters, Mrs. John Boyd of Annapolis, Maryland, Mrs. Ted Miller, Boaz, Alabama, Mrs. Charles Butler of Culthbert, Georgia and Mrs. C. E. Oliver of Dadeville, Alabama.

H. W. Frazier rites Tuesday

Funeral services were held Tuesday at Copperas Cove for H. W. Frazier who died Sunday in a Temple hospital after a long illness.

Mr. Frazier worked as manager of the Copperas Cove Rural Telephone Company for years. He lived in Florence for a number of years working for the telephone company here.

His wife was the former Lily DeWald.

What's Happening?

Former Chamber of Commerce Manager of Georgetown Fred Poole stopped in Georgetown on his way from San Antonio to his home in Hallsville, after taking three trophies on his Irish Setter at the state-wide dog show held in San Antonio last weekend.

His handsome Irish Setter Andy won the top Best of All Breeds trophy over some 1,000 other dogs entered in competition. Andy won a trophy for best in the Irish Setter Class as well as a third trophy for style.

After moving from Georgetown, Fred was manager of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce with offices in Longview.

After retirement Fred and Norma Poole moved to Hallsville near Longview and are really not retired since they operate Irish Setter kennels.

For several years Poole was associated with the Longview Chamber of Commerce and operated tours abroad. He is also guest speaker on numerous occasions for banquets, and meetings, and has conducted courses at boy's camps in Kerrville.

'Wurstbraten' planned Nov. 1

An annual country sausage fry — the "Wurstbraten" regularly sponsored by Zion Lutheran Church in Walburg — begins at 5 p.m. November 1 in the church gym.

Not only homemade smoked sausage but sauerkraut, potato salad (Irish and sweet), green beans, pickles, onions, fresh homemade bread, coffee and tea comprise the menu.

Tickets are $2.50 for adults and $1.50 for children under 10.

Homemade coffeecake, pies, cakes and bread, as well as country store items, will also be available.

profit from rentals would be too little to fund costs over the $100,000 already voted to the cause by county commissioners.

"I think the building size is going to have to depend on the pledges," Georgetown Director Carl Lidell of Georgetown inserted. Agreeing, the other directors decided that the next step for them would be to collect as many pledges as they could before their November 18 meeting.

"What we are going to do is to plan to build what we can and add onto it at a later date if we can't go the full 300 feet," Tom Foust, the Liberty Hill member, said.

Association directors had earlier agreed to keep the 150-foot span size in order to increase the versatility of the building, but decided the length could be cut if finances made it necessary.

"The reason we are building this big is for all this homemaking or the poultry or arts and crafts that we have never had before," Tom Foust of Liberty Hill pointed out. "It will be a combined fair and show for everybody.

Kaatz not only told the group that area banks contacted had agreed that a loan would be no problem, but reported, "The first man I called said, 'You bet; I'll pledge $1,000 for five years.' Another pledged $500 for five years."

Pledges may be given Kaatz, available evenings at 255-3418; Georgetown director and building committee chairman Daniel Richter, 863-3649; Tom Foust of Liberty Hill, Bennie Gower of Florence, Jerry Cassens of Jarrell, Jack Winterrowd of Thrall, Bill Pfluger of Coupland and Carl Lidell of Georgetown.

Directors not present at the meeting included Jerry Rabel of Granger, Gus Almquist of Hutto, Jimmy Henry of Leander and Bobby Hill of Bartlett.

Present Thursday night — and dipping into the stack of pledge forms to be able to help the directors in their task — were David Oman, Hutto alternate, and guest Melvin Wentrck of Granger.

Gower also urged the directors to get others in their home areas to help with the pledge work, pointing out that contacts can be made beyond the persons known by the directors if they are not the only ones collecting pledges.

plans are not certain at this date.

"BREAKFAST will probably begin at 8, but folks will probably start arriving at 7:30 a.m.," Stubblefield explained.

"We are going to try to have as many Carter supporters there as possible. It's not a fund raiser — it's dutch treat.

"If anyone wants to give me a call to let us know they are coming, that's fine but it's not necessary," said Stubblefield, himself the unopposed Williamson County Democratic nominee for county attorney.

SUN will resume sales of news photos

The SUN is pleased to announce it will resume sales of pictures used in the newspaper.

Beginning Monday, October 25, you may purchase non-fading copies of photographs which have appeared in The Williamson County SUN or The Sunday SUN since September 1, 1976.

YOU MAY ALSO purchase photo prints actually used for publication at a cheaper price, provided they are not needed for our permanent files. These prints do, however, fade with time.

Picture sizes which will be available, and their prices, will be:

— five inches by seven inches — $2 for first print, additional prints — 50 cents each

— 8 x 10 — $2.50, additional $1 each

— 11 x 14 — $4, additional — $1.50 each

Single prints used for publication — one dollar each.

IN FILLING picture orders, The SUN will make the following requirements:

• Full cash payment for the order must be made at the time it is placed.

• We will make non-fading copies of photos we have used, provided we have the negative for that picture or are provided the negative.

The SUN will not process unsolicitied film for non-news or non-advertising purposes, and will not make prints from such film.

• Photo orders (with the proper clip of the picture(s) desired, showing date of issue) should be placed in person at the SUN's office, 709 Main St. in Georgetown; or by mail to P. O. Box 39, Georgetown, Texas 78626. We regret we cannot accept orders by phone.

PHOTO ORDERS received by 5 p.m. Wednesdays will usually be met by noon the following Friday (a day and a half later). Orders received after that time will be met by noon Friday one week later.

We regret we cannot provide personal photos, except for news, advertising, or passport photo purposes. Passport photographs will be made at the prices listed above.

The SUN is pleased to resume this service to Georgetown and Williamson County.

★United Way

ment from their contacts made during the campaign but, she explained, she feels it is important to know Georgetown's ideas about how to make United Way even better.

"For example, we are wondering if there are other volunteer groups in town which need funding or if there are other groups we should be helping. We need to hear about them; we need people to start thinking about them.

"If you are part of a group in Georgetown that is involved in service to the community and feel that they need extra funds, contact anyone on the United Way Board of Directors.

"A budget and admissions committee is appointed in February. They send out letters — and we'll also publishe the meeting date in the newspaper — for a meeting in the spring.

"THE STEPS are, one, to contact the United Way and request to be heard by the budget and admissions committee; two, to appear before the committee on a designated date in the spring of '77; and three, to request an amount of money and submit a proposal on the use of funds."

Linda emphasized that the United Way budget is not whimsically derived because someone feels one agency is "very deserving" while another is viewed less favorably.

"These past three years that I have been aware of requests from groups, I would say the United Way Board awards money more for a designated need and program, rather than for a request for an amount of money with no idea of exactly how it will be spent." Here she cited the Meals-on-Wheels program included for the first time on the United Way budget. Their request—$600 specifically to purchase freezer space — was accepted.

"A prime consideration in the awarding of Boy Scout and Girl Scout funding, for example, was the number of scouts that were served: one scale we use is the number of people being served through that agency," she continued.

"ANOTHER PRIME consideration, of course, is their reporting on how they used the money. If they were given $2,000 and they report the use of that $2,000 in a way that we feel has been effective, they we'll probably feel that they could use $2,000 again. If they used it well and they have indicated their need for more and exactly what their needs are, they'll proably get it."

Linda added the fact that, while the budget and admissions committee hears and considers all requests, it submits suggestions to the entire United Way board, so that all final decisions concerning funding are made by the full directors' board.

Livestock care — responsibility for youth

Kaatz' concern for countywide fair shows youth orientation

by NEL PERSKY

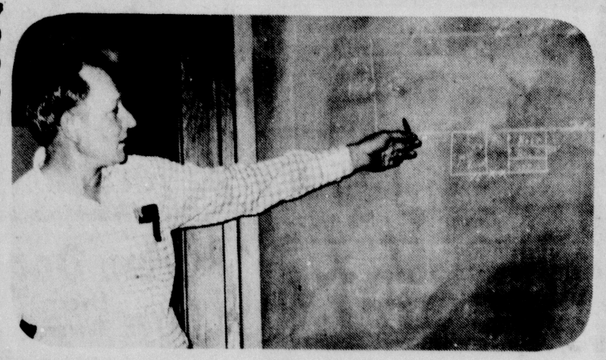

"Our youth today need a lot of attention," Ervin Kaatz, president of the Williamson County Fair and Livestock Show Association, tried to explain his interest in the group he has headed since its late September organization.

"I could hardly go back and find a youth that's gone bad that's had livestock and had the support of the family."

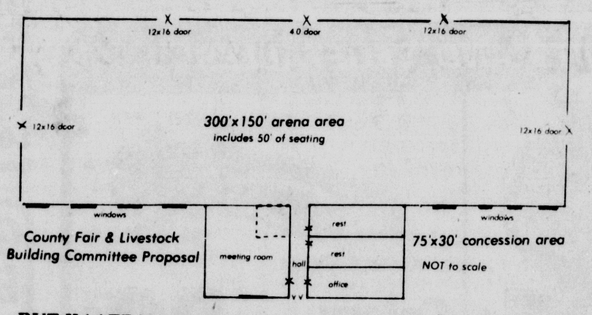

Himself father of four sons and a daughter, Kaatz has raised a family which has approved his love for livestock in the highest manner: by imitation. A family to be proud of, they have also proven his philosophy that a child given the responsibility of caring for his own animal with his family's support will become a worthwhile adult.

A graduate of Texas A&M, Ervin and Ruby Kaatz' oldest son, Ervin Jr., is the county agent at the Caldwell County Courthouse in Lockhart, Roger Neal is working for his master's degree from A&M, where son Kevin is a junior. Still at home with his older sister Roxanne, who was selected Williamson County Sheriff's Posse Sweetheart this year, Shannon at 12 is the youngest.

Already raising a horse on his father's EAK Ranch on Highway 79 in Round Rock, next year Shannon will also raise a calf as a 4-H project.

THIS IS ONE IDEA, County Fair and Show Association Building Committee Chairman Daniel Richter of Georgetown explained his group's proposal for a 300x150-foot building which one preliminary estimate put around a cost of $182,625. "We brought this to give you some idea about the kind of money we are talking about," Richter said, stressing that both the plan and the cost estimates presented were open to consideration and change. "We know this is 'way over our $100,000 — $180,000 is almost double." The plan, he said, was based on ideas gleaned during visits to other county livestock show buildings in Central Texas, and especially from the San Marcos facility, which has had several additions planned and constructed since it initially was built.

County Fair & Livestock Building Committee Proposal

BUT KAATZ is not interested only in his own children; his background proves that.

A director on the Austin Livestock Show for nearly nine years, Kaatz has been instrumental in integrating youth into the horse show there. He also was a member of the Williamson County Sheriff's Posse the first year youth were involved and managed the Georgetown horse show.

In addition to his Austin concern, Kaatz Motors, and his Round Rock quarter horse ranch, Kaatz has a home in Hutto.

"I was born and raised in Thrall — the only school I ever went to was Thrall school."

He joined the Army early in 1940, winning a battlefield commission in infantry during World War II, but was given a medical retirement after nine years in the service. "They said I was permanently incapacitated for life and I have been working ever since."

One of the items which has captured much of his attention most recently is the county's livestock show building, proposed by representatives from each school district in Williamson County to take the place of the Taylor Chamber of Commerce show and the Williamson County Livestock Association show in Georgetown.

"As far as our facilities are concerned, they will be opened to anybody in the county who wants to use them," Kaatz explained the Fair and Show Association's intentions for the countywide facility. "There will be a certain amount of revenue coming in from this," he continued, but explained that area school organizations like 4-H and FFA (Future Farmers of America) would not be charged for use of the show arena or meeting room-kitchen facility.

He also looks forward to construction of a building which would be able to house a spring or summer fair as well as the December livestock show. And the larger, covered show building itself would enable youngsters who do not have the facilities to raise larger livestock to show poultry, rabbits or other small animals in an expanded livestock show.

The proposed size for the building would permit horse show competition and a full-size rodeo as well.

While the present livestock show facility — two open pen sheds with a grassy "arena" between them — needs work, Kaatz said current plans could include repairing the pens for use as extra space during the livestock show.

"With the facilities we have here to bring our children to, I am surprised the interest in these kids has stayed as high as it has.

"I have seen them stand out here in the rain and snow, their animals in this little spot right here.

"That's all you can have once a year, it's just something to have an animal under a roof now," he said as he peered at old boards allowing daylight to show through. "That's why nothing else is happening out here."

BUT WITH OPPOSITION to the chosen Georgetown site for the new building coming from the Taylor Chamber of Commerce, the possibility exists that nothing else may happen at the show barn site even now, with 13 representatives and $100,000 ready to plan a new era for the county and its youth interested in agriculture.

"I don't think commissioners are going to change their mind."

He emphasizes that his interest in the Association is due to his interest in the youth of Williamson County, explaining that, as he told commissioners' court members, the location chosen for the building is not important; having the facility is.

"Personally, I didn't care where it would be. I am giving my time because I want it for our youth. But since it's been voted by commissioners, I think it should be here in Georgetown."

"IT'S LIKE THIS . . ." Ervin Kaatz, County Fair and Show Association president, describes tentative plans for the new county show building, which will extend from the front of the present show barn buildings shown here.

Hospital loan date confirmed

Great news!

Money should be on the way as of Wednesday, November 3, to build a new Georgetown Area Hospital.

Hospital Authority president Jay Sloan informed th SUN just before press time Friday that the state office of the Farmer's Home Administration in Temple, which just during the past week approved a $1.2 million loan for construction of a new Wesleyan nursing home, has now confirmed that $3.1 million will be made available for the new hospital in just over a week.

"As soon as this loan is here, we will immediately re-open negotiations with contractors, finalize with one, then let the contract," said Sloan. "I expect we will be breaking ground out there before the end of the year."

Construction on the new hospital is expected to take 12-18 months to complete. Sloan said that means, "we should be doing business out of our new hospital by mid-1978."

The achievement was made possible by contributions totaling nearly $500,000 from Georgetown citizens, commercial firms, and institutions.

The modern new 60-bed hospital will be located directly across from the Wesleyan nursing home on the Scenic Drive extension in southwest Georgetown.

NEARLY EVERYTHING'S relative. I was grousing recently, thinking how difficult it is to find a youngster to work in the yard for $2.30 an hour. "I worked for 25 cents an hour and was glad to have the opportunity, back there when I was a boy," I grumpily told myself. But then I put the two figures in the framework of time. Hamburgers sold for 10 cents, so 25 cents bought two-and-a-half hamburgers. Hamburgers now sell for 90 cents so $2.30 will buy you two-and-a-half hamburgers! A pair of overalls that now retail at $8 then sold for 98 cents. It took 4 hours of work in 1930, just as it does today, to earn the money needed to buy a pair. It doesn't quite work out that way on everything, true enough.

A Coke to drink with the hamburgers then cost 5 cents, so an hour's work bought 5 Cokes. Now at 25 cents each, an hour's work buys 9 Cokes. Taken all together though, $2.30 today doesn't go much farther than two-bits did then and it's harder to find someone willing to work to earn it.

Carl Doering was telling me this week that the farmers are going to vote for Ford. "I don't know why they should," I rejoined, "with all the damage the Republican boll-weevils are doing to our cotton crops." "Well," Carl shot right back, "The Republican boll-weevils aren't as bad as the Democratic screwworms!" Some arguments you just can't win.

THE NAME OF DONALD Yarbrough will be on the November 2 ballot for the Texas Supreme Court and I urge everyone, to help avoid a state-wide disgrace, scratch it out. Two write-in candidates are running, which is too bad, but most people believe that State District Court Judge Sam Houston of Denton, with a name known to everyone in Texas, has the best chance of defeating the discredited Houston lawyer, now threatened with disbarment. Remember, you have to write in the name of Sam Houston, it won't be on the ballot.

Texans, who like to brag that we are the best in everything, aren't making as much money as residents in most of the nation's 50 states. We are making more than we were last year and the years before that and we're living better. Per capita income in Texas in 1975 was $5,361, ranking us 29th in the U.S. and slightly under the national average of $5,902. On the other hand living costs in Texas are considerably lower than in many of the other states, so we still do right well. At least, we're coming up and that's better than going the other way.

PTA, Chamber on Tues. agenda

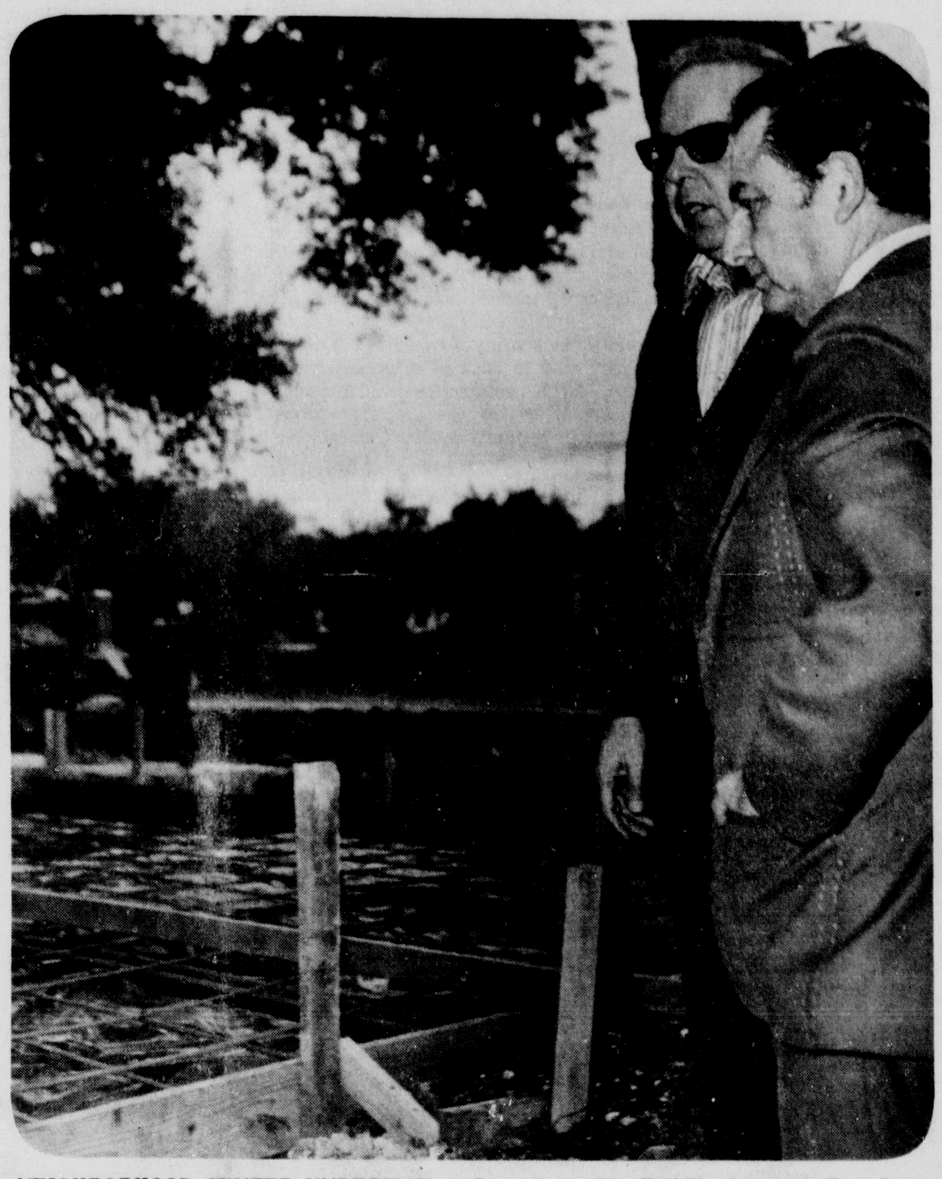

In addition to hearing a Taylor Chamber of Commerce delegation request that the county's $100,000 commitment to a single livestock show building be canceled, county commissioners meeting Tuesday morning at 10 will hear Georgetown PTA representatives request use of county equipment for a paving project at Westside School.

Part of the grass esplanade between the school and Scenic Drive should be paved to provide more parking area, PTA members told Georgetown school trustees Monday night, and the trustees agreed. The school will contribute $2,500 for the project.

Dr. Douglas Benold will request office space in the county health building for the new community counseling service which offers individual, family and group psychotherapy each Thursday between 3 and 9 p.m.

Also scheduled for the Tuesday meeting were several tabled items as well as the following considerations:

- salary increase for Precinct 4 employees and hourly wage adjustment for student employees;
- change of Precinct 1 polling place from auditor's office to commissioners' courtroom;
- approval of North Fork agreement with U. S. Corps of Engineers, concerning temporary flooding of roads in the future lakesite area.

NEIGHBORHOOD CENTER UNDERWAY — Georgetown City Building Inspector Tom Sams (left) and City Councilman Harry Gold examine preparations for the foundation of the city's new Neighborhood Center, which will house programs operated by Williamson-Burnet County Opportunities, Inc. at Montgomery and Eighth Streets, in the Urban Renewal district west of the downtown area. Foundation work got under way Friday morning. Funding of the almost $36,000 facility will be made possible with a $228,000 federal Community Development Grant, which Sams and Gold helped secure. Completion of the building is expected in about six weeks. Meanwhile, a second required hearing to decide how Georgetown will use its 1977 CD grant of $228,000 will be held at 7 p.m. Tuesday in the Council Chamber at City Hall. Mayor John Doerfler has urged Georgetown citizens to attend.

Wesleyan groundbreak set Oct. 29

A groundbreaking ceremony for Georgetown's new Wesleyan nursing home will be held at 3:30 p.m. next Friday, October 29, at the future site of the home, east of Interstate Highway 35 and north of FM 2243 on the Scenic Drive extension.

Bishop W. McFerrin Stowe of the Dallas-Fort Worth district of the United Methodist Church will be principal speaker for the event. Also on hand will be the Board of Directors and the Building Committee of the Wesleyan Home.

A reception is planned to follow the ceremony at the Wesleyan Home, 1105 Church Street. In case of bad weather, the entire ceremony will be held at the Wesleyan.

Hill talks Carter politics

Texas Attorney General John Hill will speak about Democratic Presidential nominee Jimmy Carter to breakfasters at the Georgetown Inn Thursday morning, Carter-Mondale Committee Chairman Bill Stubblefield of Georgetown announced Friday.

Stubblefield, co-chairman of Williamson County's committee with Israel Galvan of Round Rock and County Party Chairman John Wehby of Taylor, added that Congressman W. R. "Bob" Poage also hopes to be on hand to endorse the Democratic nominee, although his

Pledges asked for livestock building

A 300x150-foot county livestock building costing approximately $180,000 — with $80,000 to come from individual pledges — was considered when Williamson County Fair and Livestock Association directors met Thursday night to hear their building committee report and to adopt a constitution and by-laws for the organization.

Williamson County Commissioners have already budgeted a one-time $100,000 appropriation for the construction, which will be located in the county seat for use as home of one countywide livestock show and fair.

Directors decided to begin writing building specifications and to obtain as many pledges as possible by their November meeting date.

Confident that the county's residents would support their drive, Association members nonetheless agreed to delay a firm commitment on the building size until they got a better idea of the amount of support available.

IF FULL COST of the building could not be immediately raised, the 300-foot dimension could be cut with an eye to later additions, the eight members and one alternate agreed.

It was the group's first meeting since the September reorganization when Round Rock's Ervin A. Kaatz was elected president, with Bennie Gower of Florence voted vice-president of the directors.

While expressing faith that county residents will enthusiastically support construction of a building which would be useful for more events than an annual livestock showing, directors were obviously aware that opposition in form of the Taylor Chamber of Commerce could cancel all their work.

Before- and after-meeting talk centered around the Wednesday night Taylor Chamber barbecue where buyers who had supported the Taylor livestock show voted a resolution that no county money should be spent on a show building anywhere in Williamson County.

Taylor Chamber President Gene McAlpine and other representatives of the group will present their views to county commissioners Tuesday at 1:15 p.m.

While the vote opposing commissioners' $100,000 appropriation for a livestock show building was reported as having been unanimous, David Oman, a past supporter who attended the Association meeting Thursday night as the alternate director from Hutto, pointed out that there were a significant number of abstentions when the resolution was considered.

"It wasn't unanimous. I'd say maybe 90 percent voted for it — no question about the majority; but it wasn't unanimous," he maintained.

As Association members voted to adopt the pledge method of financing the proposed construction, they were also asked if they would be willing to sign a $50,000 or $75,000 loan for the money.

"THE ONLY WAY I'd have any objection to it would be if for some reason we could get no support at all — but I think these things (100 donation forms distributed at the meeting) are going to work. I feel we are going to get some support," said Gower.

"THAT COULD BE some pie in the face, if we as a body signed for $50,000 and then ended up paying for it out of just our proceeds from a building," agreed Jack Winterrowd of Thrall. Earlier discussion had pointed out that, while the building could be rented to other groups,

Week's news in a nutshell

The bickering continues. President Ford, who was naive enough to believe the Poles and Bulgarians were running their own show, calls Carter naive for thinking a Democratic president will end any threat of an oil boycott by the Arabs.

Meanwhile, Carter is becoming fearful that over-confident Democrats won't turn out at the polls November 2. In a speech in Tampa this weekend he told a crowd that anyone who does not vote next month is a "coward" who has "given up" on his county.

THE FINAL DEBATE between Ford and Carter was held Friday night. Many believe the winner of that face-to-face encounter will be the next president of the United States.

Right now, during the lull and the name-calling, Ford seems to be moving up. Everyone expects the election to be close.

A state-wide write-in campaign will attempt to put Sam Houston of Denton or Tom Lorance of Houston in the Texas Supreme Court rather than Don Yarbrough, who won the Democratic nomination but is facing almost certain disbarment by the State Bar of Texas for alleged misdeeds. Apparently, the guy just won't do, yet is destined to become, unless the write-in is a lot more successful than anyone could hope for, a member of the highest court in Texas, at least for a while.

LEANDER IS MAKING preparations for its seventh annual Old Leander Day, which comes up Nov. 6. The event is sponsored by the FFA and citizens of the area look forward to the festivities with considerable anticipation. Meanwhile, there is some argument brewing over the merits of cutting the school tax rate two cents. Some patrons of the system feel that the rate should be retained and the proceeds — $12,000 — used to pay for some of the things the school system needs. The issue will be discussed when the trustees meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday night.

Pickle pancakes— what a combo!

U. S. Congressman J. J. "Jake" Pickle will be the special guest of the Georgetown Noon Lions Club for its annual Pancake Supper from 5-8 p.m. Wednesday in the San Gabriel Park Community Building.

Tickets, $1.50 each, are available from any Lions Club member for the "pancakes and trimmings" supper, which is one of the Lions' major fund-raising activities.

Proceeds from the event allow the club to contribute to projects such as the Lions Camp for Crippled Children at Kerrville, and sight conservation.

Several local firms are contributing to the Pancake Supper: the Georgetown H.E.B. store will provide 140 pounds of pancake mix; Piggly Wiggly will donate two cases of butter, three cases of syrup, five cases of milk, and 50 pounds of bacon either free or at cost; Safeway will provide 70 pounds of pancake mix, one case of butter, two cases of syrup, and two cases of milk; the San Gabriel Meat Company will donate 100 pounds of bacon.

United Way plans next drive

"We're already planning for next year," United Way drive chairman Linda Graves of Georgetown announced while discussing the campaign currently underway.

Although the publicity half of the drive ended October 15, with all first calls completed by United Way volunteers, pledge collections are being made through the final report date of November 5. Pledges can be turned in at the Georgetown Chamber of Commerce or to Linda by calling her at 863-5040.

"Of course, we have to start planning for next year sometime," she explained, "and we are confident enough of reaching this year's $19,650 goal to start now.

"We feel that United Way has to continue in Georgetown because of all the areas that it reaches and all that it does."

ONE IDEA the volunteers plan to stress more next time around is the "fair share" concept.

"We want to make people more aware of what fair share giving is: that it's one hour's pay a month. The base for our support comes from the fair share giving of Georgetown employees at Texas Crushed Stone and Westinghouse," she said, estimating that the drive received approximately $10,000 from employees of the two companies.

"Jim Isbell, one of our board members, said he hopes that next year we would be able to organize more in rural areas like Jonah and Walburg and the rural routes around Georgetown, to see people whose children take swimming or are in Scouts or who take advantage of Stonehaven activities or use the library. We haven't contacted our rural citizens to give them the opportunity to participate."

ANOTHER HOPE shared by the volunteers is that a computer printout could be made to keep United Way records more workable. Less bulky than the card stacks now kept from year to year, the printout would include a citizen's past giving record as well as his place of employment and other similar information.

"Now all we have to work with are cards, which are cumbersome and hard to manage," Linda said.

In planning for the next United Way campaign, Linda is also looking for all the citizen input she can find.

Not only is she concerned that interested persons feel encouraged to volunteer their help, and that they in turn receive encourage-

STRATEGY IN THE STRETCH

You have never seen a more lackluster presidential campaign.

NOBODY LIVING has ever seen a national political campaign with fewer fireworks. Where are the noisy tallies, the proliferation of lapel pins, the bumper stickers?

Among the few bumper stickers you do see, these two attest to the dullness of this campaign:

One of them says, "PARK FORD"; the other one says, "GEORGIA PEACHES ARE FUZZY."

It's as though both sides in this political super bowl are afraid to put the ball in the air, afraid to gamble on a fumble.

PRESIDENT FORD does not have a solid electoral vote base anywhere. His chances are good in Illinois and California but he needs five or six of the "Big Eight" states.

Carter, with a less than comfortable lead in the polls, is disinclined to say or do anything which might jeopardize that lead. Back to the football analogy, he'll try to keep the ball within field goal range rather than try for a touchdown.

Norman Miller is Washington bureau chief for The Wall Street Journal. He sees Ford strategy like this:

KEEP THE CAMPAIGN boring. Admittedly their man is not an inspiring campaigner so showcase him as what he is — steady, reliable, safe.

Robert Teeter, Ford pollster, says, "Being 'safe' is a very important commodity for a President. If voters are not sure of someone they won't take a chance on him. However uninspiring, with Ford what you see is what you get."

Carter campaigners, meanwhile, are trying to whittle away at the President's "competence factor," constantly keeping voters reminded of how Mr. Ford stumbled over Poland in the second debate.

We talk about this as an admittedly tepid campaign; perhaps we should be grateful that both men have such impeccable personal histories that neither camp has been able to dig up anything "sensational" with which to discredit the other.

THERE ARE NOT many Americans whose X rays would look as good as either of these.

And where none of us is likely to agree with either of these candidates on all things — none of us is likely to agree with his or her own spouse on all things.

So what will be decided in November is — according to Mr. Miller's evaluation — whether after a campaign by two bores the electorate will elect to go with "good old Gerry" who, at least, has not wrecked the country in two years — or will they prefer to try the comparatively untried one-term governor of Georgia, an apparently erratic person, a born-again Christian who panders to the Playboy set.

So nobody is going to walk into the White House next term; either of two pretty nice guys will back in.

No vote - no complaint?

We all complain about government, yet only half of us vote.

THIS IS A LAMENTABLE, even disgraceful, fact and we have an opportunity, come November 2, to do something about it.

Let's all of us — black, brown, white, majority, minority, Protestant, Catholic, rich and poor — go to the polls and show the whole doggone state that Williamson County is the out-votingest place in Texas. It would be easy, no strain at all. We just have to put it down on the calendar and when the date arrives, head for the closest voting place. It usually takes about 10 minutes to do a job for yourself and for America. Is that asking too much?

WE HOPE YOU WILL do it. It would be a fitting climax in this bicentennial year if Americans, led by Williamson County, defied all the talk about voter apathy and went to the polls in substantive numbers. Do you know that Americans vote in fewer numbers (percentage-wise) than any of the established Democratic nations of the world?

The Christian Science Monitor pointed out this week that the trend of voting has been downward.

"This year, it is said, more voters may stay home than go to the polls. Is the reason really apathy? More likely, it seems, it is a disappointment with the performance of political leaders and institutions, a lack of faith that much will change whoever is elected.

"ALL THIS SUGGESTS a failure of schools, media, and families to educate citizens. It bears constant reminding that democracy is not something static, a pleasant gift bestowed by a few wigged forebears on successive generations. It is an ever-evolving process requiring effort and involvement. It should not be taken for granted, for then it can be lost. If too many Americans withhold their vote as a "protest" they may one day find themselves unable to protest anything. Looking around the world, there are not too many places where every individual has a voice in how his country is run.

"Today's problems are bewildering — inflation, joblessness, urban rundown, corruption. They may not be solved by "big" government but they certainly cannot be solved without good government and good government means an involved and well-informed citizenry. To the oft-heard plaint that the candidates offer little choice, we would say "nonsense." There are choices — in style, character, approach and emphasis — and if voters cannot wholeheartedly cast their ballots for someone they like they can at least vote for those they dislike least."

WITHIN THOSE boundaries, all of us ought to be able to head for the polls next month and do our duty to our country and our heritage.

Is the age of 'just friends' upon us?

Melvin Maddocks

The history of love and friendship suggests that when the stock of one rises, the stock of the other drops. As cultural ideals, the two coexist badly.

Love, to say the least, is a private experience. To the lover, the world is well lost. He is a lyric warbler, perched with his beloved on the last branch of the last tree in creation. Nothing exists except his ecstasy or his suffering, as the case may be, and perhaps – just perhaps – that beloved. For quite possibly, "Beloved" may prove to be only the name for all those exquisite self-centered feelings.

Friendship, on the other hand, is a social value, discoursed upon in rational (if not clinical) prose by essayists whose heads have been screwed on very tight. The advantages of friendship get explained as carefully as a trust fund. Rules are laid down as if friendship were a sort of crop that can be guaranteed to bloom if certain processes of agronomy are followed. Just obey your Bacon-Montaigne formulas, friends, and you can't go wrong.

When lovers turn to the subject of friendship, in their inspired egoism they tend to think of it as something that comes in rolling iambic pentameters, available only to lovers. This attitude makes the friendship-prose writers so cross that they regularly declare friendship to be incompatible with love – it has to be above and beyond the gusts of passion.

Thus Oliver Goldsmith scorns love as "an abject intercourse between tyrants and slaves," while friendship is a "disinterested commerce between equals."

And love is not only undemocratic but transitory, all the wise old heads have cried. Yet, despite the best efforts of Thinking Men and Women, love has generally won the popularity contest if we are to believe the very believable Denis de Rougemont, who argues brilliantly in "Love in the Western World" that practically all the problems of modern marriage stem from our acceptance of the sentimental credo of Tristan and Isolde – our stubborn insistence that life be one long Romeo-and-Juliet balcony scene.

Perhaps it is too soon to say. But at last there are signs of a turn of cycle. The ideal of romantic love, which survived all those centuries of marriage, appears to have been done in by a mere 50 years or so of the Sexual Revolution.

The poet's idea of love – once the supreme hope of young people and the redeemer of the rest of human experience – now seems to produce a mood compounded of cynicism and emotional exhaustion. For the first time in who-knows-how-long you can get a serious hearing for celibacy, particularly but not exclusively among women.

Are we about to enter an Age of Friendship?

A new book, "Friends and Lovers," by an Australian sociologist, Robert Brain, may be taken as symptomatic of a general reaction in favor of friends. "Romantic love," Brain states bluntly, "is past its prime." Furthermore, it has become such an obsessive, all-or-nothing ideal that it has kept us from seeking out decent alternatives with a far better chance of succeeding. Roaming through his comparative anthropology, Brain beguilingly describes all the forms of friendship that have worked, he asserts, from primitive societies on up.

For 20th-century lovers – those battered cases – Brain makes friendship seem so sensible, so serene by comparison with love. But before we all trade in love – life's red sports car – for friendship, the practical sedan, we ought to look a little closer and see if the goods fit the new ads. Is the friend really that much more tolerant than the lover? After all, a friend can swallow us up about as efficiently as a lover. And don't the impasses of a friendship pretty much resemble the impasses of love? Both friends and lovers share one prayer: Not to be alone. And both share a common fundamental problem: The human curse of egocentricity.

A real advance would be to recognize the obvious: that friends do often feel affection at the point of love and that lovers can – and better be – friends. The two states, far from being mutually exclusive, approach one another the more intense either gets. And – let's concede it – both are sentimental. But then, what else is the faith it takes to live day by day but an ongoing act of romanticism?

STATE Capital NEWS

AUSTIN — Texas goat and sheep raisers cannot hunt golden eagles in Texas, the U.S. Interior Department has ruled.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe's request was rejected last week.

Briscoe stirred up something of a storm last month when he asked Interior Secretary Thomas E. Kleppe to grant blanket authorization for stockmen to hunt the eagles in 31 counties of West Texas.

Lynn Greenwalt, director of the Interior Fish and Wildlife Service replied to Briscoe. He said the request was turned down under a policy of former Secretary of Interior Walter J. Hickel which concluded in 1970 against blanket authorizations.

The golden eagle is protected under a special federal act.

The Interior policy referred to by Greenwalt permits consideration of requests from individual ranchers who can demonstrate that they need to hunt the protected birds.

Briscoe requested authority to shoot the eagles after ranchers complained about increasing numbers of the birds near the October 1 beginning of the lambing season.

Ranchers claimed the migratory birds would cause heavy losses in newborn lambs and kid goats.

An outcry was raised subsequently from groups seeking to protect the golden eagles from wholesale attack by outraged ranchers.

"Scandal" Charged

Texas Railroad Commission routinely continued the November state oil production allowable at 100 per cent for the 56th consecutive month.

Meanwhile, Commissioner Mack Wallace termed increased dependence on foreign crude oil "the greatest scandal in the nation."

Wallace charged the U.S. is spending $70,000 a minute importing oil from foreign producing countries.

Major buyers of Texas crude entered requests for more than 3.9 million barrels of oil a day in November.

Employees Fired

House Speaker Bill Clayton fired four veteran House employees last week.

He said they did not fit into his plans to computerize the system of handling legislation.

Discharged were House Chief Clerk Dorothy Hallman, a House employee for 41 years and chief clerk for 20 years; Adele Jacobs, who has been calendar clerk since 1947 and has worked for the legislature since 1931; Assistant Chief Clerk Ruth Rainey, a 10 year veteran; and Assistant Calendar Clerk Cynthia Lewis.

Clayton claimed House members and lobbyists had told him they had been contacted by some of the employees and warned that bills may be lost under the new system or that copies of legislation would not be available. The speaker also said there were just too many employees in the clerk's office.

Mobile Home Probe Set

The Department of Public Safety has launched a statewide probe of mobile home scandals.

DPS spokesmen said owners of the homes are being offered phony contracts under which buyers claim they will agree to pay off the balance owed them.

Courts Speak

The State Bar of Texas has filed a complaint in district court at Houston seeking to disbar, suspend or reprimand Donald B. Yarbrough, Democratic nominee for the State Supreme Court.

The Court of Criminal Appeals affirmed the death penalty for two men who killed an off-duty patrolman.

The same court upheld a trial court decision denying bail for Fort Worth millionaire Cullen Davis in the slaying of his stepdaughter.

The court also reversed the 14 years sentence given a man in the rape of a deaf mute in Bell County.

Hearing Slated

Texas Public Utilities Commission set December 1 as a tentative date for review of the rural rate structure of Central Power and Light Company.

The commission turned down a motion from intervening cities to delay the consolidated hearing until late December after all cities have individually considered rate requests presented to them by CP&L.

Two intervening groups were named by the commission. One consists of 41 South Texas cities. The second combines interested ratepayers in Aransas and Nueces counties, South Padre Island and the Key Alegro Canal Owners Association.

Meanwhile, the commission granted Atty. Gen. John Hill and Texas Municipal League a three-day time extension to intervene in the Southwestern Bell Telephone rate case. The company is seeking a $272 million annual hike.

Share $212.2 Million

Texas cities and counties spent a combined total of $212.2 million in federal revenue sharing funds during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1975, Comptroller Bob Bullock has reported.

Bullock said cities spent 72 per cent of their $132.3 million for capital improvements and the remaining 28 per cent on operating expenses.

He said counties spent 62 per cent of a $79.9 million allotment on capital improvements and 38 per cent on operating expenses. Transportation accounted for 26 per cent of the revenue sharing fund expenditures by both cities and counties.

AUSTIN NOTEBOOK

By Bill Kidd

AUSTIN — Two members of the State Board of Insurance — both normally staid, dignified middle-aged men (one a former judge, one a former speaker of the House) — recently engaged in a fistfight over an administrative order during a board meeting.

THE SUBJECT MATTER of that order was technical and obscure to most folks — it concernd the computation of surplus for dividend purposes.

After the brief brouhaha, both men sheepishly declined to comment, acting embarrassed over the whole affair.

It's kind of embarrassing, too, for a reporter who normally sees the two men in less dramatic circumstances (including church services) to have to ask for details about such an encounter.

But while no one would advocate settling governmental affairs along the lines of Muhammed Ali-George Foreman, it is good to see that state officials have strong feelings on matters.

Members of the Texas Aeronautics Commission also recently forgot about reason and due process and rules and regulations — and got down to trading punches.

Members of both the House and Senate have, in times past, and probably will at some future date, swap a few blows. It's both a Texas and American tradition.

There's less of that sort of thing these days, of course, than there has been.

TEXAS POLITICS and politicians haven't ever been of the shrinking violet variety, even from the earliest days.

Texas' premier politico, Sam Houston, had his share of pugilistic encounters — and got put on trial for one such incident.

Houston, taking exception to some remarks by Congressman William Stanbery of Ohio regarding some contracts for Indian rations, caught Stanbery on a Washington street, and after calling him a "damned rascal," proceeded to thrash him with a hickory cane.

THAT CREATED A SENSATION in 1832 — as it would today — but hardly finished off Houston's career. It might even have helped it.

And look at Gov. E. J. Davis back in the Reconstruction area.

Davis, for all that he was detested by 90 percent of the white population, showed quite a bit of ingenuity — arresting half of the Senate after a tie vote on legislation he wanted passed (and then returning enough of the arrested Senate under guard to maintain a quorum).

Remember the famous "choking" incident where former Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler grabbed former Rep. Jake Johnson of San Antonio — by the tie, Sadler said; by the throat, Johnson said — during the flap over the Spanish galleon material salvaged by Platoro?

Sadler, incidentally, has been quoted as saying his race in 1938 for a Railroad Commission seat was so rugged that he got in 58 fist fights before he won.

AND WHAT ABOUT the wrestling match between Sen. Strom Thurmond and Sen. Ralph Yarborough (which Yarborough lost) when Yarborough attempted to drag Thurmond into a committee hearing?

Fortunately, we've come past the point where political opponents call one another out for coffee and pistols in the morning, like Aaron Burr and Alexander Hamilton.

Equally fortunately, we've not reached the point where government officials are so disinterested in what they're doing that they no longer get angry about anything.

An occasional fist fight and a little acrimony (with the adjectives emphasized) are okay.

It's when there's nothing left worth fighting about that we need to worry.

SOUTHWESTERN UNIVERSITY received more than $100,000 while President and Mrs. Durwood Fleming received a silver bowl Wednesday evening at St. Luke's United Methodist Church in Houston. The church gave the gift in honor of the Flemings to endow the "Southwestern University Scholar in Residence Program in Religion." As a remembrance of the occasion, John Robinson (left), a member of the University's Board of Trustees, presented the Flemings with the silver bowl.

THREE MINISTERS who led in the building of St. Luke's United Methodist Church in Houston, one of the largest in the state, met Wednesday evening as the church honored Southwestern University President and Mrs. Durwood Fleming. President Fleming, left, led in organizing and building the church and served as its minister from 1945-61. Bishop J. Kenneth Shamblin, center, was the pastor of the church until this year when Dr. Walter L. Underwood (right) became its minister.

LECTURING at Southwestern University this week were Dr. Stuart C. Henry, left, and Dr. David G. Mitten. Mitten, a professor of classicial art and archeology at Harvard, has spent the week lecturing on a variety of topics — Greek, art and civilization. Dr. Henry, a professor of American Christianity at Duke University, delivered The Southwestern Lectures on Thursday on the topics "Priests Who Saved the Past" and "Prophets Who Shaped the Future."

Oversize ballot greets November 2 voters

Williamson County voters will be faced with an oversize 16½x22½ ballot November 2, with races ranging from the national presidential contest to unchallenged bids for local constable.

Changes from the sample ballot printed here, which is the ballot persons voting at boxes 1 and 29 will use, will be seen all over the county.

THE KEY to where changes will show up is the election precinct number printed on each voter's registration card.

Persons living in Congressional District 11 — those who have Election Precinct number 5, 13, 15, 20, 21, 23, 25, 27, 28, 33 or 34 on their red and blue registration cards — will help decide the Poage-Burgess race for U. S. Representative. Incumbent Democrat W. R. Poage is being challenged by a fellow Wacoan, Republican Jack Burgess.

All others will see the Pickle-McClure contest under the 10th District U. S. Representative slot.

ONLY VOTERS living in Commissioner Precinct 1 have a county commissioner's race to decide, although Precinct 3 voters will also see a commissioner candidate on their ballots.

While Democrat Raymond Rister is unopposed in his bid for the Precinct 3 commissioner's office, Democrat Carl Lidell faces Republican James Coffman in the Precinct 1 race. Election precincts located within those commissioner precincts are printed in the box on this page.

Voters living in Commissioner Precincts 2 and 4 will hold commissioners' races two years from now.

The only other change voters will see comes at the very bottom of the ballot, in the constable slot. Each of the justice precincts is eligible to elect a constable, the legal arm of the justice of the peace office.

All Democratic nominees, the constable candidates are unopposed in their election bids.

In addition to C. T. Russell, Justice Precinct 1 constable candidate, the following are nominees to constable positions in Williamson County: incumbents H. T. Ward in Justice Precinct 2, Granger's Lee Hays in Precinct 3, Liberty Hill; and Charles A. Fuller in Precinct 6, as well as first-timer Jerry Drummond from Round Rock Justice Precinct 8.

NO CANDIDATE will be listed on ballots for Justice Precinct 4 because of the death of incumbent nominee Lawrence H. Clark.

County Clerk Dick Cervenka explained, "The law says if the nominee of the party dies prior to the time of the printing of the ballot, then his name shall be left off."

Since no one filed for the nomination following Clark's death, the vacancy leaves open the possibility of a write-in candidate for constable in the Florence area.

Two state constitutional amendments will be printed at the bottom of each ballot in Texas.

POLL LOCATIONS, which may undergo one change after county commissioners meet Tuesday, will be printed in the Thursday issue of the Williamson County SUN.

Commissioners are considering changing the voting location in Election Precinct 1 from the county auditor's office to the commissioners' courtroom.

Absentee balloting could forecast large voter turnout on November 2

Pre-election registration drives in the county seem to be paying off as a high turnout in absentee balloting could predict an equally good response November 2.

County Clerk Dick Cervenka's office reported 366 absentee ballots cast in the presidential election as of noon Friday, a number which Cervenka approved as indicative to date of a good turnout. "There's been a lot more at this time, and they still have through next Friday.

"Absentee voting is heavier — up until this point — compared to the last presidential election, too," he said. "Of course, I don't know what they are going to do from here out — there are still five voting days left."

Absentee voting ends October 29.

IN 1972, the last presidential election year, approximately 450 persons voted absentee. A record voter turnout that year recorded 11,203 ballots cast out of 17,360 registrations.

Discussing the especially large paper ballots which all Williamson County voters will be using this election, Cervenka said "We are having to re-instruct all the judges in these especially large (election) boxes because when they get through at the end of election day they are supposed to lock all of the voted ballots in Box 3.

"Now we are instructing them to lock them in Box 3 and Box 4. When they are through counting they will put a paster on Number 4 and call it "3-A." Then both of those boxes will be delivered to the sheriff's office.

FOOTBALL CONTEST
PICK THE WINNERS AND WIN A PRIZE

Here's How You Play:

HERE WE GO AGAIN! It's football time -- and time for the annual County SUN Football Contest. If you're a Saturday morning armchair quarterback, you can enter this fun Contest and check up on yourself! Might even win a little money at it or a free theater ticket.

Here's a game to test your skill -- it's a game that the whole family can enjoy. Spread this page out on the kitchen table. Let everybody play. There'll be a new contest each week until about the middle of November.
So ready, get set, GO!

- Win $10, $5 or $3 for first, second or third respectively
- Next five winners may pick up a free ticket to the Palace Theater!
- Pick up all prizes and theater tickets at The SUN.
- The only notification of the winners will be in the following week's issue.
- See this week's football games on this page.
- In each game, check the team you think will win. (You do NOT need to indicate score).
- Unless all games are marked, your entry will be automatically disqualified.
- Then to eliminate as nearly as possible any ties in this fun-test, every entry must have the score marked on "The Tie Breaker" game listed at right.
- Only one entry per person will be qualified, but as many from a family may enter as wish to do so -- except employees and families of the Williamson County SUN.
- You may enter the fun-test on this page. Or you may copy the games on another sheet of paper, indicating your pick in each game
- All entries must be brought to The SUN by 5:00 p.m. Friday or mailed with a postmark not later than 7:00 p.m. Friday of each week. The SUN will grade all entries, and The SUN's decision will be Final and incontestable.
- Have FUN! And patronize the businesses whc make this fun-test possible.

THE WILLIAMSON COUNTY Sports

SETTING UP the ball for a Southwestern University spike is Mellisa Hardberger (43) backed up by Tracy Strane (51). Southwestern defeated San Antonio College, last year's national junior college champions, and then dropped a close match to Baylor University here Wednesday.

A PERFECT SERVE by Southwestern University's Tracy Strane kept San Antonio College backed up in a match here Wednesday. The Pirates now have a glittering 19-9 record as they go into the St. Mary's University Tournament this weekend in San Antonio. The next home games for Southwestern will be here Tuesday with Incarnate Word College and Concordia of Austin beginning at 5:30 p.m.

County produces four SU players

Williamson County hasn't been a hotbed of high school basketball in recent years, but it has produced four players who are now a part of the expanding basketball program at Southwestern University.

Steve Doering, former standout at both Georgetown High and Concordia Junior College, and Tommy Johnson, an all-around athlete from Hutto and Temple Junior College, will both make important contributions to the varsity team this season.

Freshmen Dan Edwards of Georgetown and Tommy Ellisor of Pflugerville will be important in the formation of a new junior varsity program.

Johnson and Doering, both guards, will log quite a bit of playing time this year as the Pirates try to improve on last year's second place conference finish. In addition to basketball, Doering is an avid golfer and will be a member of the SU golf team in the spring. Steve is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Doering.

Johnson, an outstanding shooter, comes from Hutto High School, where he earned a total of 12 letters in three sports. Tommy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Johnson.

Pflugerville freshman Tommy Ellisor received honorable mention on the 28A all-district and the all-Williamson County teams.

Dan Edwards is the son of Pirate Head Coach John Edwards. Dan, who also enjoys sailing, was named to the District 12AAA second team.

Both players are uncertain about their future in basketball at Southwestern, but are looking forward to the 1976 season.

Johnson summed up the season by saying, "the team has togetherness; we will have a real good season." Doering adds, "it will be a disappointment if Southwestern doesn't take the conference championship."

Talon Editor Jarvis Angely showed his "superior" journalistic talents this week by asking, "Natalie, how do you spell journalism?" When I asked him how he had spelled it, he replied "J-O-O-R-N-A-L-I-S-M! Who says all editors know everything about journalism?

The next time you are watching the Blue Wings struggle to pull up the run-through sign, think before you criticize. I helped them pull the sign up the cold, wet night of the Lockhart game. Getting the sign up is not the last problem, however. Trying to hold it up while the players run through it and tear it apart is hard. I nearly slipped.

While the bonfire was burning, the triumphant Freshman conquered the Round Rock Dragon team, 13-0 and kept their undefeated status.

J.V. players had an unusual tie score of 0-0. I've never heard of a 0-0 game, but it probably has happened before.

Cast and crew members of "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay," along with other students, struck the plays' set Wednesday afternoon.

Tuesday night, after the casts' final and best performance, the company held a cast party at Mr. Gatti's. Along with pizza demolishing, tennis playing, movie watching, and talking, the "Golden Hubcap" award was given. Members cast their ballots on napkins. Freshman David Morse, who played Otis Skinner (the father) received the award for the best supporting actor.

The "Golden Hubcap," which is really a golden wheel, is awarded the last night of the first show each year. The lucky recipient has to sleep with the "hubcap" under his pillow the night he accepts the award.

Tobin Holden, last year's winner claims the award is hard, cold and does not make sleeping easy.

Junior Historians are having a lunch meeting in the Food Service Lab. Any members that want to eat the spaghetti lunch should get their money in to Mrs. Mugford, soon.

Thanks to you it works...

Hot chili readied for Florence homecomers

Florence friends and homecomers are invited to bowls of steaming hot chili before the 7:30 p.m. homcoming game against Liberty Hill in Florence Friday night, October 29.

Sponsored by the Florence Athletic Booster Club, the all-you-can-eat meal will be served from 5-7 p.m. in the Elementary School cafeteria.

Admission is $1.25 for persons junior high school age and older, 75 cents for others.

Tea or coffee is included in the ticket price and pie, cake and cookies will also be available.

Films of football games dating back to 1966 will be shown during the two-hour serving period.

Following the District 28 football game, ex-students will meet in the high school building.

The Booster Club, which supports projects related to the athletic program at the Florence schools, invites interested persons to attend its weekly meetings Monday nights at 7 p.m. in the high school building.

HOW HIGH -- Robert Conrad seems to be much shorter than most of the people on Baa Baa Black Sheep. How tall is he anyhow? Mike Jones, Spring Hope, N.C.

Conrad's bio has him listed as 5'10" but I suspect that's a bit of an exaggeration.

HOW OLD -- How old is Toni Tennille and where was she born? Terry K., Waterbury, Conn.

Toni is "in her early 30s" and was born in Montgomery, Ala. She moved to California with her family, though, in 1962.

SET-UP SMILES -- This sounds like a silly question, but are Donny and Marie's teeth for real, or are they capped? J.L., Macon, Mo.

Mrs. Osmond swears that every one of her kids' sparkling teeth are their own. But, she admits, those dazzling smiles cost the family a lot of money in orthodontist bills.

FALK FACTS -- Where was Peter Falk born and how did he become an actor? Josie Lewis, Shasta, Calif.

Falk hails from New York City, can't you tell? Falk, who has a B.A. and M.A. in public administration from Syracuse University, was an employe of the state of Connecticutt when he decided to take acting lessons for a change of pace. He joined Eva LeGallienne's class, and it was she who urged him to take it up as a career. In 1955 he did just that, quit his job and returned to the Big Apple. Less than a month later, the 26-year-old Falk landed a role in an off-Broadway production of "The Iceman Cometh." Other roles followed, and thus a career was launched.

VAN DYKE ERA -- How many seasons did the original Dick Van Dyke Show last. Also, what was Richie's (his son) middle name. I have a bet on this with a friend of mine. Frances Tremont, Columbia Heights, Minn.

The Dick Van Dyke Show first aired in 1961 and ran through the 1966-67 season. Richie Petrie's middle name was Rosebud, named after the famous final words of Orson Welle's in "Citizen Kane," referring to his childhood sled.

TV Star Scene

The producers of Rhoda may have edged David Groh out of the series, but Groh could very well end up the winner in the separation. He has been offered a deal by CBS to star in his own series and word in the industry has it that his performance in "The Two Minute Warning" is a knockout . . . Peter Falk was only to have done two episodes of Columbo this year, but now NBC has announced he'll do at least four. No mention was made of what suddenly inspired Falk to change his mind.

The Quest keeps racking up stars of the past as guests. Latest is Howard Keel, who hasn't appeared on TV in 8 years, although he's been making personal appearances regularly . . . Dick Gautier is another actor reeping the rewards of cancellation. The star of the aptly titled When Things Were Rotten has just been signed by Universal Studios to do both TV and theatrical films for the company.

If Starsky & Hutch are winning in the ratings, then Barney & Benny will knock 'em dead, right? Well, maybe. That's the hope of NBC anyway. In the latest variation on the cop show theme, NBC has come up with a pilot film, "Benny and Barney: The Aristocrats," to air Nov. 3. No, they're not high class guys, just two suspended cops working the Vegas strip as a singing duo, The Aristocrats. Great idea, right? Terry Kiser and Timothy Thomerson play the singing officers.

DAVID GROH gets the last laugh.

Muscleman Arnold Schwarzenegger is busting out all over. First he gave an impressive showing in "Stay Hungry," Now ABC has signed him for an episode of The Streets of San Francisco, playing another body beautiful type . . . Richard Boone is on location, filming ABC's "The Last Dinosaur" on Japan's Inland Sea . . . Neil Simon is writing and directing the pilot of a TV-series version of his play "The Sunshine Boys."

"This is the first time my daughter has ever had the opportunity to zing it to me in front of an audience," reported Danny Thomas, as daughter Marlo Thomas guested on a segment of The Practice, to air Wed., Oct. 27.

The two have appeared on television only twice before, most recently when Danny did a cameo on Marlo's That Girl series in 1969. Before that, they appeared in a Zane Grey Theatre drama telecast in the late '50s.

"It was a very emotional experience working with Marlo," said Danny. "We've been trying to do something together for the longest time, but the opportunity didn't present itself.

"This appearance was especially emotional because of the nature of the show. I mean, my daughter plays a very sick young lady, and you can't help but become involved. It's tough to do a show in which I am talking to my own daughter about dying."

According to her father, Marlo thought of the show as a test, to prove she could work well with him. "I told her she didn't have to prove anything to me. Marlo is a perfectionist, a younger Lucy (Lucille Ball), and she has a very fine comedic sense."

Danny Thomas is one man who knows how to get on the good side of his kids.

Peter Strauss: looking for a power base

By DAN LEWIS

Two young actors make their mark in a new series. One looks for new fields to conquer. The other sees his future rooted in the same area for the time being. This clearly defines the courses taken by Nick Nolte and Peter Strauss.

Both emerged as television stars last season as they played the Jordache brothers in ABC's startingly successful television adaptation of Irwin Shaw's novel, "Rich Man, Poor Man." The series, a mid-season phenomenon, did so well for ABC in the ratings, it seemed inevitable that what was primed for a limited-run series would be continued into the new fall season.

It almost did not come to pass because of the reluctance of most of the prime characters to ride along with the series for another season. Nolte might have been resurrected from the past (he died in what was originally planned as the series finale) had he inclined to go along with the new season.

But Nolte made it perfectly clear that he wanted to venture into feature films. He is getting $225,000 to costar in a film version of Peter Benchley's latest book, "The Deep," now on location in Bermuda. Jacqueline Bisset and Robert Shaw are costarred.

Peter Strauss was also reluctant to continue in the series. He once was considered a bright prospect in Hollywood as a film star. He has worked steadily, but his reputation, while good as an actor, did not move appreciably forward as initially anticipated.

Suddenly, he achieved the plateau of stardom, but in television, not feature films. ABC obviously wanted to continue.

"My first answer was 'no.' I was not resting on those laurels. It seemed no possible way we could continue the series," Strauss declared.

But the show's popularity with the public was so overwhelming, Fred Silverman, President of ABC Entertainment, concluded it should continue. The alternatives, without a principal returning character were limited.

"He needed one of us," Strauss claimed. "Nick was firm. I thought I was, too. The alternatives (for ABC) were flashbacks, or age (take the series years ahead and bring in new actors for the roles)."

PETER STRAUSS is still trying to make it in the tough world of show biz, after Rich Man, Poor Man failed to bring him promised success.

Then Strauss, who played Rudy Jordache, the more stable of the brothers, had a change of mind. The catalyst may have been the sudden interest in the television series from Shaw, the book's author. Until this point, Shaw had shown little, if any, interest in the TV series, other than to note that the series had stimulated book sales -- 750,000 sold after the four episodes were played. Shaw then got interested in the series. In two days, he watched 12 hours of the taped segments. Then he sat down at his typewriter and, in three days, turned out 90 pages of material for future episodes, according to Strauss.

Millard Lampell, a Paterson native, was signed on as headwriter, and 15 hours were completed in treatment form before production was started. Strauss was impressed with the new material. He agreed to continue, and Rich Man, Poor Man was back on the schedule for the new season.

The show's early ratings are still strong. There have been some indications of Strauss's displeasure with the way his role has turned out this season, but in earlier interviews, he had other thoughts. He liked the material, and "loved the fact that I could see the entire story written out in advance and see the character develop."

Strauss was serious about moving on to other things at the end of last season. He joined the cast of "The Last Tycoon," the feature film version of Scott Fitzgerald's novel, which stars Jack Nicholson.

"What delighted me here is that I could change and develop a complex new character that I was creating."

Instead of new strides in his career, "The Last Tycoon" proved to be merely a hiatus project. Into the new season, Strauss said the level of this year's material was above some of the pulp, as he called it, that occasionally surfaced last season.

As of now, 22 episodes are ready -- an entire season. If the ratings falter, and the show doesn't make it past mid-season, Strauss noted, the series would end in the middle. Each episode will not be a story unto itself. They are continuing episodes.

The toughest part for Strauss has provem to be the aging process.

"It's tough to play a 40-year-old man when you're 29," he said.

Strauss is under a one-year contract.

"I possibly could go on," he explained, "but I want to guard against an unhappy situation. Television has a habit of slipping into mediocrity.

"Television is very young. I do want to stay in it. It gives you incredible, devastating exposure. Nick (Nolte) feels differently. His attitude was once you're in it, get out of it. I want to stay in television until I get enough power.

"Then I can bring projects to television. All of a sudden, doors have opened for me, thanks to Rich Man, Poor Man. If we bomb this season, I'm on my backside again, and I'll have to start all over, again."

Tim Matheson's personal quest

TIM MATHESON: "We've got things all backwards these days."

The Quest has begun to rub off on one of its stars, Tim Matheson. Once a college-bred liberal, he's become a staunch advocate of the law of the West -- the kind of instant justice you just can't get in today's labyrinth of a criminal justice system.

"We've got things all backwards today," says the concerned young actor. "I feel that if a person breaks a law in our society, he forfeits his rights. I believe in justice and the law and the necessity of proving guilt, but if all that is taken care of, the criminal must be punished.

"There are no crimes anymore. It's all for a cause. The Harrises claim they are not doing anything wrong. I don't buy that. How many innocent people get killed by people with a cause who 'aren't doing anything wrong?' Don't the innocent have rights?"

All of this discussion came out of a recently filmed scene from an episode of The Quest, in which he and Kurt Russell, as the Baudine brothers, seek out and execute some men who were guilty of lynching. He says he appreciated that form of justice, but is quick to assert he is not a raving fascist.

"I am a liberal in the sense that I am anti-war. I was behind the student demonstrations -- I didn't participate but I agreed. I used to be extremely liberal in the terms of civil liberties and prison reform, and in many ways I still am. But when it comes down to rights, everyone is ultimately responsible for himself. It's not society that's at fault. The problem today is no one is taking that responsibility."

Matheson is also a strong advocate of patriotism. "What's wrong with loving your country? Sure, it makes a lot of mistakes, but we can help correct them. To me this last Fourth of July was a great day, because we were all united in a common Americanism."

Americanism and the Western are to Matheson synonymous, so he's quite pleased with his role in the new series, the first of what may become a revival in TV Westerns. "Westerns are the American version of classics and the period forces the actor to develop character. People who ride horses for transportation walk differently from those who drive cars. If I'm typed in Westerns I can't think of a better place to be."

But he is still not content, with all his love for the genre, to work only in cowboy epics. Matheson has tackled the "real" classics as well. He played Romeo to Penny Fuller's Juliet in San Diego a couple of seasons ago and got impressive reviews. He didn't know what the reviews of the next day would be when he walked on stage opening night, so the moment was one of sheer dread.

"I entered through the theatre and I was standing there and heard the speech just before my entrance and I suddenly thought, 'What am I doing here? This is another fine mess I've gotten myself into.'"

When it turned out to be far from a mess, Matheson decided to work further in the theatre. Most recently, he appeared in Shaw's "Man of Destiny."

But he still respects the world of video and film. "I had an inverse snobbery. I believed the stage is where it's at for an actor. Not any more. Now I respect stage and film actors equally."

So if the show's a success, he'll stick with it because, afterall, he can't beat "getting paid for what we did every Friday evening for fun as kids. We are acting out our fantasy, riding horses and being heroes."

King appointed bond chairman

John T. King, The SUN's Managing Editor and owner of Heritage Printing, has accepted appointment by the U. S. Department of the Treasury to serve as volunteer chairman for the Williamson County Savings Bonds Committee.

In announcing King's appointment, John V. James, Chairman of the Texas Savings Bonds Committee remarked, "His business experience and active participation in community affairs will be most valuable in his volunteer service as Williamson County chairman, especially in these times when the United States Savings Bonds Program takes on increasing importance in helping to keep our nation economically strong and secure."

As Williamson County chairman, King will work with other community leaders in a year-round program to encourage increased purchase of Savings Bonds at banks and on the Payroll Savings Plan.

King is well known in Georgetown civic affairs circles. He is a member of the Georgetown Rotary Club and the Georgetown Noon Lions Club.

Removing the THORN

Almost everyone that has ever removed a shoe and run barefoot through the fields, knows of the wonderful feeling of freedom that this gives. Most, also have known what it is to remove a sticker or a thorn. The first attempts to pull it out are usually handled so gingerly and slowly, and then, screwing up your courage you yank it out, and find that this was the easiest way after all.

There are many thorns in life, and these evils should be removed swiftly, and put out of our lives. Attend Church, receive help and encouragement in removing the thorns from your life.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH — THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

Support for United Way is—support for Boy Scouts

Over 200 Georgetown boys and 100 local adults are active in Boy Scouting, a program designed to help boys grow physically and emotionally, as well as mentally.

The Georgetown Area United Way organization has budgeted $3,300 of this year's $19,650 fund drive goal to support Boy Scouts here. Drive chairman Linda Graves said this is the largest contribution budgeted for any single local service agency.

Money alloted to the Boy Scouts opens doors for camps, professional help, canoe trips, jamborees and other worthwhile activities. The money is also used to train adult leaders.

Local Boy Scout district chairman Ernest Lincoln and his advisory committee will oversee distribution of the funds donated to the agency, deciding how the money is used.

"Boy Scouts are alive and well and working in Georgetown, and they need your support," said Mrs. Graves.

One way you can support Georgetown Boy Scouting is to contribute your "fair share" — one hour's pay a month to the local United Way, which is continuing its fund drive through Friday, November 5.

To pledge, drop by the Georgetown Chamber of Commerce office (103 W. Ninth St., 863-2251) or contact Linda Graves at 863-5040.

Some of the youngsters involved in Boy Scouting here, and their leaders, include:

Other Georgetown troops include Troop 150, which meets with Henry Vasquez at St. Helen's Catholic Church on Monday nights, and Troop 153, sponsored by the Georgetown Optimist Club, which meets with Johnny Snow in San Gabriel Park, also on Monday nights.

Liberty Hill NEWS

BY HOWARD N. WILSON

Our International Sculpture Symposium is going into its second weekend, and the site is now even more imposing with all the flags waving in the breeze. Many people from out-of-town have already stopped to witness this unique happening, and many more are expected to come by before it is over.

The students of our town, all of them, have already visited at least once with these artists in action, and it is safe to assume that they will return several more times. We want to invite ALL of YOU to come to our town for this once-in-a-lifetime event!

The Liberty Hill PTA is sponsoring this year's Halloween Carnival which will be held from 6:30 until 9:30 p.m. on Saturday, October 30 at Liberty Hill Market Square in downtown Liberty Hill.

Each grade in our schools has elected their nominees for King and Queen as follows: morning kindergarten—Kevin Pogue and Vicki McLeod; afternoon kindergarten—Ray Johns and Angel Allman; Monroe's first grade — Amy Byler and Jeff Fenel; Sikes' first grade — Sheila Teague and Don Brewer; second grade—Thomas Blom and Cara Conway; third grade of Carothers—Susan Haight and Norman Holland; third grade of Ford — Lori Ledenham and Brian Staton; fourth grade of Marcom — Geneva Calley and Kelly Shuffield; fourth grade of Cooper—Kim Marcom and Mike Loyd; fifth grade—Kay Cantrell and Victor Stephens; sixth grade — Kim Macon and John Pina; seventh grade—Edward Pina and Sue Cantrell; eighth grade—Maurice Stephens and Lisa Floyd; ninth grade—Steve Loyd and Gayle Lenox; tenth grade—Omar Lopez and Becky Weber; eleventh grade—Curtis Floyd and Cindy Montgomery; and twelfth grade—Perry Baugh and Terry Wiginton.

The king and queen will be announced at a coronation during the Halloween carnival.

Next week will be designated as "Spirit Week" at Liberty Hill High School. Monday there will be "Sock-it-to-'em" and "Hats-off-to-the-Panthers activities;" Tuesday will be "Fifties day"; and Wednesday will be "School Colors Day."

All classes will be competing hoping to be named as the most "Spirited Class" to be chosen on Wednesday. Thursday and Friday will be student holidays as the teachers attend "In-service" training sessions.

The Liberty Hill Junior High and the Junior Varsity Panthers will be playing their counterparts from Florence on Thursday beginning at 6 p.m. on the home gridiron. Friday evening the Liberty Hill Panthers' Varsity team will go to Florence for their fourth district game, beginning at 7:30 p.m. — SEE YOU THERE!

The last volleyball games of the week were played at home Tuesday with the junior high, junior varsity and varsity team all losing matches to the Granger Lions.

The scores for the Junior High Team were 18 to 16, 10 to 15, and 10 to 15. High pointers were Tammy Linehan and Sue Cantrell with 7 points each; Denise Stultz made 6 points, Lisa Lovelady made 5 points, Cynthia Loehr and Lace Knox made 4 points each; Kathryn Merrill and Lisa Bohanan made 1 point each.

The Junior Varsity scores were 9 to 15, and 9 to 15, with Sherry Hays getting 8 points to lead in the scoring; Linda Hernandez got 7 points with Donna Holder, Debbie Sessler and Beth Wear each getting 1 point.

The Varsity scores were 8 to 15, and 9 to 15, with Natha Wetzel and Cynthia Williamson each scoring 4 points to lead in the scoring. Diane Williams and Laura Hinesly had 3 points each, Kellie Weems made 2 points and Debbie Bohanan made 1 point.

Team captains for the year were elected last week as follows: Junior High — Tammy Linehan and Denise Stultz; Junior Varsity—Sherry Hays; Varsity—Shirl Holder and Kellie Weems.

Margoliash discusses evolution of protein

A Northwestern professor will be lecturing at Southwestern University Monday, October 25, on evolutionary changes in protein structure.

Dr. Emanuel Margoliash, professor of biochemistry and molecular biology at Northwestern University, will speak on the topic "Functional Basis for Evolutionary Changes in Protein Structure" at 4 p.m. Monday in room 100 of Fondren Science Hall.

Dr. Margoliash was born in Cairo, Egypt, and holds BA, MA and MD degrees from American University, Beirut.

His experience includes serving as fellow in pathology at Hebrew University, Israel; research associate in Hobel Institute, Sweden; Montreal Research Institute; Abbot Laboratories (protein section) in Chicago; and at Northwestern.

Dr. Margoliash's areas of interest and publications are in structure-function relations and evolutionary relations of heme proteins, and in energy conservation mechanisms.

Any interested person is invited to attend.

Bodden visits Southwestern

Students at Southwestern University will have an opportunity to learn more about graduate counseling psychology programs Friday when a Texas Tech professor visits the campus.

Dr. Jack Bodden, director of counseling psychology at Texas Tech, will speak at a luncheon meeting Friday in the upstairs dining room of the University Commons in a program sponsored by the humanistic psychology department.

His talk will focus on graduate programs in the area of counseling psychology at Texas Tech University. He will also be available for conferences with individuals following the luncheon meeting.

Dr. Bodden is a 1965 graduate of Southwestern University.

County students earn UT degrees

Among 156 students receiving doctor of philosophy degrees from the University of Texas Graduate School at the close of the summer session was Meredith McClain of Georgetown.

The University also awarded 365 master's degrees as the session ended.

Receiving her master of education degree was Mildred Jean Rusk of Georgetown.

Master's degree recipients, announced by Dr. Irwin C. Lieb, vice-president and dean of graduate studies, also included Barbara Ann Griffin of Leander, who received a master of arts degree; Richard Warner Berkley of Round Rock, master of music; and Dorian French, also of Round Rock. French earned a master of science in environmental health engineering.

Not included in the announcement were students who received master's degrees through the Graduate School of Business and the UT Austin School of Nursing.

Awarded bachelor's degrees by the UT College of Fine Arts were Wendy Julia Osborn of Georgetown, who received a bachelor of fine arts degree, and two Williamson County residents taking bachelor of arts degrees in art: Judy Catherine Ingram of Georgetown and Brenda Gay Fondren of Taylor.

Sales tax reminder

Anyone who has a question regarding the state sales tax, a sales tax return or a question about their tax return, can get free help at the tax office in the county courthouse on October 28.

A state comptroller's employee will spend from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. every fourth Thursday of each month in the tax office to provide the taxpayer assistance.

Eleven girls receive badges in Troop 625

Investiture and Court of Honor was held by Girl Scout Troop 625 at their meeting on Wednesday, October 20.

Tammy Holcomb was invested into Scouts. Joanna and Lydia Smith came into Scouts for the first time in Georgetown. Sue Woodlief is a transfer Scout from Austin.

Those receiving badges included Melissa Douglas, Joy Gardner, Holly King, Carolyn Saterfield, Mary Harrision, Tammy Holbomb, Sue Woodlief, Shelly Rodgers, Kimberly Davidson, Valicia Rose and Valerie Norman.

Carolyn Gardner and Juanita Whitehead are troop leaders. Troop 625 is composed of Troops 227 and 625.

Troop 153 seeks boys for scouting

Any boy age 11 or who has attained the fifth grade in school who might be interested in Boy Scouting may contact Johnny Snow (817) 783-2371 or Ira Whitehead 863-3190 for information.

Boy Scout Troop 153 meets on Tuesday from 7:30 to 9 p.m. in the Scout Hut in San Gabriel Park. Parents and adults interested in Scouting are urged to attend.

Williamson County Baptists hold meeting in Liberty Hill

The Williamson County Baptists' annual meeting held recently at Liberty Hill was attended by over 180 representatives of the 24 Baptist churches in the Williamson County Baptist Association.

The Rev. John Rudd, pastor of Pond Springs Baptist Church, Jollyville, was elected moderator for the Association for the upcoming church year.

Williamson County Associational Churches have a resident membership of over 4500.

The Rev. Tommy Burress, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Round Rock, was elected vice-moderator. Brother Burress delivered the doctrinal sermon during the annual meeting. The Rev. Ed Jennings, pastor of First Baptist, Florence, delivered the main sermon during the evening services.

Among awards presented at the meeting was a Church Extension Award given to Pond Springs Baptist Church for establishing Friendship Baptist Mission in Shenendoah subdivision.

'Haunted house' to benefit Capital Area March of Dimes

Anticipation need not keep you waiting, if it's Halloween you are waiting for.

The haunted "House of the Witches' Moon" has already opened at Northcross Mall in Austin to benefit the Capital Area Chapter of the March of Dimes.

"All proceeds will go to the March of Dimes," emphasized Cathy Hubbard of Georgetown, Williamson County coordinator for the area chapter.

The haunting — approximately a 20 minute treat — can be experienced between 7 p.m. and midnight nightly through October 31.

Admission for the tours is $2 for adults and $1 for children under 18.

"There is no age limit," Cathy said.

County A&M Mothers Club plans annual turkey supper

The Williamson County A&M Mothers Club will hold its October meeting at the home of Alice Schernik in Taylor on Tuesday, October 26.

The Moms of students or former students of Texas A&M University are invited to attend.

Plans for the Turkey Supper to be held at the American Legion Hall in Taylor on November 3 will be finalized. The proceeds from the turkey supper are used for scholarships and in support of various student organizations on the campus of A&M.

During the 1976-77 school year the club awarded a $500 scholarship to a high school senior who enrolled at A&M for the 1976-77 school year and gave $600 to student organizations on the campus. These organizations included The Aggie Bank, Fish Drill Team, Parsons Mounted Cavalry, The Reveille Fund, Singing Cadets and the University Hospital.

For further information or for the purchase of a ticket for the turkey supper call Pat Sanders at 863-2867.

We have two new homes in Golden Oaks. These are quality homes with the fine touches for gracious living. Both are ready for your final touches and are on acreage tracts.

Bring your hammer and paintbrush and as you work, enjoy the 3 bedrooms, 2 baths, and large fenced yard. This house is priced below $17,000.

Looking for one of Georgetown's lovely large old homes with lots of charm and lots of huge pecan trees? I have one with 4 bedrooms, 1½ baths on 2 large lots. Reasonably priced.

Veteran no down payment! Over 1400 ft. living space for $28,050. Nice area. Also, F.H.A. financing with small down payment.

This lovely place is not just a 3 bdrm., 2 bath house but a home. Its many niceties include a large detached workshop, unusually pretty redwood and stone fence, and covered patio.

Older home with 3 bedrooms, 2 baths, central heat & air. Unusual arrangement would be perfect for studio, hobby room, (or maybe a mother-in-law?).

Like rustic country living? You must see this 3 bedroom home in the country. No restrictions.

South of town ½ mile. Approx. 1200 sq. feet home with attached garage, well, TP&L electricity.

March of Dimes sponsors haunting

If bobbing for applies seems a tame way to spend your Halloween, check out the "House of the Witches' Moon."

It's open now, but tours are only conducted between 7 p.m. and midnight at Northcross Mall in Austin. Enter from the north parking lot.

Proceeds from ticket sales — $2 for adults and $1 for children under 18 — will benefit the Capital Area Chapter of the March of Dimes, said Cathy Hubbard, Williamson County MOD coordinator.

Cathy also reminds Georgetownites, "We are recruiting people to help with the "Mothers' March" in January — and men can march if they want to."

Volunteers are being asked from all parts of the county.

To volunteer, contact Cathy at 863-6144.

Services for Charles Osborn Wednesday

Funeral services were held for Charles A. Osborn on Wednesday, October 20, 1976, at 10:00 a.m. at the Davis Chapel.

Mr. Osborn, 74, died at the Georgetown Hospital on Monday, October 18.

The Rev. Kenneth Morgan officiated at the services with burial in the I.O.O.F. cemetery. One of his favorite hymns, "God Be With You Till We Meet Again" was presented.

Serving as pallbearers were Marvin Menley, James Vogler, Eddie Catron, Billy Freeman, Elmo Sherman, and Herman Catron.

Mr. Osborn was born in Marion, Alabama on September 8, 1902, the son of Annie Brady Osborn and George T. Osborn. On March 10, 1922 he was married to Annie Connelly at Selma, Alabama.

Survivors include his wife, Annie Osborn; a daughter, Mrs. Lou Smith of Selma, Alabama; two grandsons, David Adams of Austin, and Gary Adams of Selma, Alabama; and three great grandchildren.

John L. Miller buried Oct. 20

John L. Miller, 77, farmer, of Rt. 2, Georgetown, died at the Georgetown Hospital on Monday, October 18, 1976.

Funeral services were held at the Zion Lutheran Church in Walburg on Wednesday, Oct. 20, at 2:30 p.m. with the Rev. Lowell Rossow officiating. Mr. Miller was a long-time member of the church. Burial was in the Zion Lutheran Church cemetery.

Pallbearers were Dean Burk, Rickey Burk, Don Miller, Gary Bleeke, Tim Miller and Louis Miller.

Mr. Miller was born in Williamson County on April 2, 1899, the son of Marie Richter Miller and Henry Miller. He was married to Hilda Bielss on November 9, 1920, at St. Peters Lutheran Church in Walburg.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Hilda Miller; two sons, Leon B. Miller and John W. Miller, both of Austin; three daughters, Miss Lee Dora Miller, Austin; Mrs. Lillie Bleeke, Decatur, Indiana; and Mrs. Ruth Burks, Austin; one sister, Mrs. Marie Mobley of Lake Livingston, Texas.

Mrs. Jack Davis is buried Thursday

Mrs. Jack Davis, the former Virginia Banks, of Rt. 1, Leander, died at her home on Tuesday, October 19, 1976, at the age of 66.

Mrs. Davis was born in Jackson Gap, Alabama on December 4, 1909, the daughter of Linnie Shank Banks and Dr. M. J. Banks.

Graveside services were held on Thursday, October 21, at 2:00 at the Bagdad Cemetery with the Reverend H. James officiating.

She is survived by her husband, Jack Davis of Leander; a brother, Dr. Joe Banks of Dadeville, Alabama; four sisters, Mrs. John Boyd of Annapolis, Maryland, Mrs. Ted Miller, Boaz, Alabama, Mrs. Charles Butler of Culthbert, Georgia and Mrs. C. E. Oliver of Dadeville, Alabama.

H. W. Frazier rites Tuesday

Funeral services were held Tuesday at Copperas Cove for H. W. Frazier who died Sunday in a Temple hospital after a long illness.

Mr. Frazier worked as manager of the Copperas Cove Rural Telephone Company for years. He lived in Florence for a number of years working for the telephone company here.

His wife was the former Lily DeWald.

'Wurstbraten' planned Nov. 1

An annual country sausage fry — the "Wurstbraten" regularly sponsored by Zion Lutheran Church in Walburg — begins at 5 p.m. November 1 in the church gym.

Not only homemade smoked sausage but sauerkraut, potato salad (Irish and sweet), green beans, pickles, onions, fresh homemade bread, coffee and tea comprise the menu.

Tickets are $2.50 for adults and $1.50 for children under 10.

Homemade coffeecake, pies, cakes and bread, as well as country store items, will also be available.

★ Pledges asked

profit from rentals would be too little to fund costs over the $100,000 already voted to the cause by county commissioners.

"I think the building size is going to have to depend on the pledges," Georgetown Director Carl Lidell of Georgetown inserted. Agreeing, the other directors decided that the next step for them would be to collect as many pledges as they could before their November 18 meeting.

"What we are going to do is to plan to build what we can and add onto it at a later date if we can't go the full 300 feet," Tom Foust, the Liberty Hill member, said.

Association directors had earlier agreed to keep the 150-foot span size in order to increase the versatility of the building, but decided the length could be cut if finances made it necessary.

"The reason we are building this big is for all this homemaking or the poultry or arts and crafts that we have never had before," Tom Foust of Liberty Hill pointed out. "It will be a combined fair and show for everybody.

Kaatz not only told the group that area banks contacted had agreed that a loan would be no problem, but reported, "The first man I called said, 'You bet; I'll pledge $1,000 for five years.' Another pledged $500 for five years."

Pledges may be given Kaatz, available evenings at 255-3418; Georgetown director and building committee chairman Daniel Richter, 863-3649; Tom Foust of Liberty Hill, Bennie Gower of Florence, Jerry Cassens of Jarrell, Jack Winterrowd of Thrall, Bill Pfluger of Coupland and Carl Lidell of Georgetown.

Directors not present at the meeting included Jerry Rabel of Granger, Gus Almquist of Hutto, Jimmy Henry of Leander and Bobby Hill of Bartlett.

Present Thursday night — and dipping into the stack of pledge forms to be able to help the directors in their task — were David Oman, Hutto alternate, and guest Melvin Wentrck of Granger.

Gower also urged the directors to get others in their home areas to help with the pledge work, pointing out that contacts can be made beyond the persons known by the directors if they are not the only ones collecting pledges.

★ Hill talks

plans are not certain at this date.

"BREAKFAST will probably begin at 8, but folks will probably start arriving at 7:30 a.m.," Stubblefield explained.

"We are going to try to have as many Carter supporters there as possible. It's not a fund raiser — it's dutch treat.

"If anyone wants to give me a call to let us know they are coming, that's fine but it's not necessary," said Stubblefield, himself the unopposed Williamson County Democratic nominee for county attorney.

Georgetown and other Williamson County towns were happily depositing sales tax refund checks from the State Comptroller's Office as the week ended.

SUN will resume sales of news photos

The SUN is pleased to announce it will resume sales of pictures used in the newspaper.

Beginning Monday, October 25, you may purchase non-fading copies of photographs which have appeared in The Williamson County SUN or The Sunday SUN since September 1, 1976.

YOU MAY ALSO purchase photo prints actually used for publication at a cheaper price, provided they are not needed for our permanent files. These prints do, however, fade with time.

Picture sizes which will be available, and their prices, will be:

— five inches by seven inches — $2 for first print, additional prints — 50 cents each

— 8 x 10 — $2.50, additional $1 each

— 11 x 14 — $4, additional — $1.50 each

Single prints used for publication — one dollar each.

IN FILLING picture orders, The SUN will make the following requirements:

• Full cash payment for the order must be made at the time it is placed.

• We will make non-fading copies of photos we have used, provided we have the negative for that picture or are provided the negative.

The SUN will not process unsolicitied film for non-news or non-advertising purposes, and will not make prints from such film.

• Photo orders must be accompanied by a newspaper clip(s) of the picture(s) desired, indicating or with a statement of the date the photo appeared in The Williamson County SUN or The Sunday SUN. The purchaser may examine our file of back issues to find the issue in which the picture(s) appeared.

• Photo orders (with the proper clip of the picture(s) desired, showing date of issue) should be placed in person at the SUN's office, 709 Main St. in Georgetown; or by mail to P. O. Box 39, Georgetown, Texas 78626. We regret we cannot accept orders by phone.

PHOTO ORDERS received by 5 p.m. Wednesdays will usually be met by noon the following Friday (a day and a half later). Orders received after that time will be met by noon Friday one week later.

We regret we cannot provide personal photos, except for news, advertising, or passport photo purposes. Passport photographs will be made at the prices listed above.

The SUN is pleased to resume this service to Georgetown and Williamson County.

★ United Way

ment from their contacts made during the campaign but, she explained, she feels it is important to know Georgetown's ideas about how to make United Way even better.

"For example, we are wondering if there are other volunteer groups in town which need funding or if there are other groups we should be helping. We need to hear about them; we need people to start thinking about them.

"If you are part of a group in Georgetown that is involved in service to the community and feel that they need extra funds, contact anyone on the United Way Board of Directors.

"A budget and admissions committee is appointed in February. They send out letters — and we'll also publishe the meeting date in the newspaper — for a meeting in the spring.

"THE STEPS are, one, to contact the United Way and request to be heard by the budget and admissions committee; two, to appear before the committee on a designated date in the spring of '77; and three, to request an amount of money and submit a proposal on the use of funds."

Linda emphasized that the United Way budget is not whimsically derived because someone feels one agency is "very deserving" while another is viewed less favorably.

"These past three years that I have been aware of requests from groups, I would say the United Way Board awards money more for a designated need and program, rather than for a request for an amount of money with no idea of exactly how it will be spent." Here she cited the Meals-on-Wheels program included for the first time on the United Way budget. Their request—$600 specifically to purchase freezer space — was accepted.

"A prime consideration in the awarding of Boy Scout and Girl Scout funding, for example, was the number of scouts that were served: one scale we use is the number of people being served through that agency," she continued.

"ANOTHER PRIME consideration, of course, is their reporting on how they used the money. If they were given $2,000 and they report the use of that $2,000 in a way that we feel has been effective, they we'll probably feel that they could use $2,000 again. If they used it well and they have indicated their need for more and exactly what their needs are, they'll proably get it."

Linda added the fact that, while the budget and admissions committee hears and considers all requests, it submits suggestions to the entire United Way board, so that all final decisions concerning funding are made by the full directors' board.

What's Happening?

Former Chamber of Commerce Manager of Georgetown Fred Poole stopped in Georgetown on his way from San Antonio to his home in Hallsville, after taking three trophies on his Irish Setter at the state-wide dog show held in San Antonio last weekend.

His handsome Irish Setter Andy won the top Best of All Breeds trophy over some 1,000 other dogs entered in competition. Andy won a trophy for best in the Irish Setter Class as well as a third trophy for style.

After moving from Georgetown, Fred was manager of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce with offices in Longview.

After retirement Fred and Norma Poole moved to Hallsville near Longview and are really not retired since they operate Irish Setter kennels.

For several years Poole was associated with the Longview Chamber of Commerce and operated tours abroad. He is also guest speaker on numerous occasions for banquets, and meetings, and has conducted courses at boy's camps in Kerrville.

Livestock care — responsibility for youth

Kaatz' concern for countywide fair shows youth orientation

by NEL PERSKY

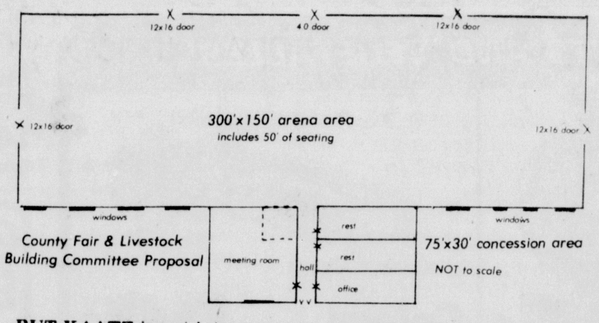

"Our youth today need a lot of attention," Ervin Kaatz, president of the Williamson County Fair and Livestock Show Association, tried to explain his interest in the group he has headed since its late September organization.

"I could hardly go back and find a youth that's gone bad that's had livestock and had the support of the family."

Himself father of four sons and a daughter, Kaatz has raised a family which has approved his love for livestock in the highest manner: by imitation. A family to be proud of, they have also proven his philosophy that a child given the responsibility of caring for his own animal with his family's support will become a worthwhile adult.

A graduate of Texas A&M, Ervin and Ruby Kaatz' oldest son, Ervin Jr., is the county agent at the Caldwell County Courthouse in Lockhart, Roger Neal is working for his master's degree from A&M, where son Kevin is a junior. Still at home with his older sister Roxanne, who was selected Williamson County Sheriff's Posse Sweetheart this year, Shannon at 12 is the youngest.

Already raising a horse on his father's EAK Ranch on Highway 79 in Round Rock, next year Shannon will also raise a calf as a 4-H project.

County Fair & Livestock Building Committee Proposal

BUT KAATZ is not interested only in his own children; his background proves that.

A director on the Austin Livestock Show for nearly nine years, Kaatz has been instrumental in integrating youth into the horse show there. He also was a member of the Williamson County Sheriff's Posse the first year youth were involved and managed the Georgetown horse show.

In addition to his Austin concern, Kaatz Motors, and his Round Rock quarter horse ranch, Kaatz has a home in Hutto.

"I was born and raised in Thrall — the only school I ever went to was Thrall school."

He joined the Army early in 1940, winning a battlefield commission in infantry during World War II, but was given a medical retirement after nine years in the service. "They said I was permanently incapacitated for life and I have been working ever since."

One of the items which has captured much of his attention most recently is the county's livestock show building, proposed by representatives from each school district in Williamson County to take the place of the Taylor Chamber of Commerce show and the Williamson County Livestock Association show in Georgetown.

"As far as our facilities are concerned, they will be opened to anybody in the county who wants to use them," Kaatz explained the Fair and Show Association's intentions for the countywide facility. "There will be a certain amount of revenue coming in from this," he continued, but explained that area school organizations like 4-H and FFA (Future Farmers of America) would not be charged for use of the show arena or meeting room-kitchen facility.

He also looks forward to construction of a building which would be able to house a spring or summer fair as well as the December livestock show. And the larger, covered show building itself would enable youngsters who do not have the facilities to raise larger livestock to show poultry, rabbits or other small animals in an expanded livestock show.

The proposed size for the building would permit horse show competition and a full-size rodeo as well.

While the present livestock show facility — two open pen sheds with a grassy "arena" between them — needs work, Kaatz said current plans could include repairing the pens for use as extra space during the livestock show.

"With the facilities we have here to bring our children to, I am surprised the interest in these kids has stayed as high as it has.

"That's all you can have once a year, it's just something to have an animal under a roof now," he said as he peered at old boards allowing daylight to show through. "That's why nothing else is happening out here."

BUT WITH OPPOSITION to the chosen Georgetown site for the new building coming from the Taylor Chamber of Commerce, the possibility exists that nothing else may happen at the show barn site even now, with 13 representatives and $100,000 ready to plan a new era for the county and its youth interested in agriculture.

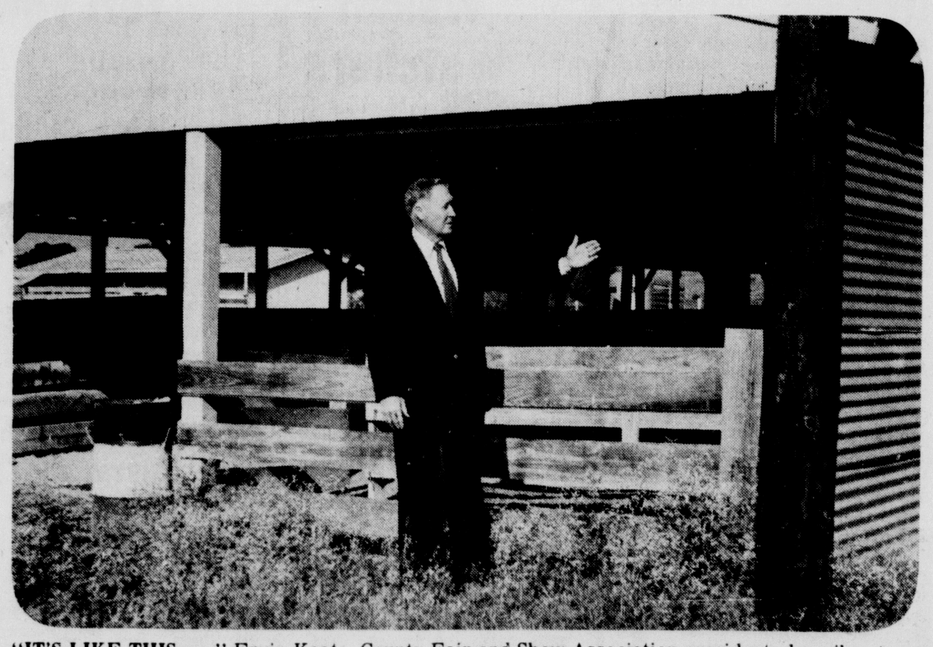

"I don't think commissioners are going to change their mind."

He emphasizes that his interest in the Association is due to his interest in the youth of Williamson County, explaining that, as he told commissioners' court members, the location chosen for the building is not important; having the facility is.

"Personally, I didn't care where it would be. I am giving my time because I want it for our youth. But since it's been voted by commissioners, I think it should be here in Georgetown."

THIS IS ONE IDEA, County Fair and Show Association Building Committee Chairman Daniel Richter of Georgetown explained his group's proposal for a 300x150-foot building which one preliminary estimate put around a cost of $182,625. "We brought this to give you some idea about the kind of money we are talking about," Richter said, stressing that both the plan and the cost estimates presented were open to consideration and change. "We know this is 'way over our $100,000 — $180,000 is almost double." The plan, he said, was based on ideas gleaned during visits to other county livestock show buildings in Central Texas, and especially from the San Marcos facility, which has had several additions planned and constructed since it initially was built.

"IT'S LIKE THIS . . ." Ervin Kaatz, County Fair and Show Association president, describes tentative plans for the new county show building, which will extend from the front of the present show barn buildings shown here.
